Twelfth Juror In Hillsville Case Secured This Afternoon

Special Panels Are Required To Secure Jury

Only Eleven Jurors In Murder Case Had Been Secured At Noon

FIFTEEN MORE TALESMEN CALLED

Expect Testimony To Be Started In Hillsville Case This Afternoon

(BULLETIN 1:30 P. M.)

The jury was completed this afternoon when Harry M. Moore, retired, of Neshannock township was accepted as the twelfth juror. He was the second of the panel examined when court resumed this afternoon. Immediately following the selection of the last juror, the jury, court attaches, etc., in the case, went to Hillsville, to look at the scene of the shooting. On their return the commonwealth will open the case, with District Attorney John G. Lamore making the address.

Unable to get the needed jurymen out of the fifteen special talestmen brought into the Lawrence County Court House this morning, in the trial of Angeline Maravola, Judge W. Walter Braham ordered an additional fifteen empaneled for this afternoon. At one o'clock the examination of the talestmen started.

When the needed juror is sworn the commonwealth will open its case against the Hillsville girl and shortly after, the jury will be taken to Hillsville to the scene of the shooting on February 3. Miss Maravola is charged with the murder of Michael A. Rich, Jr., in the Rich home, where she was employed as a domestic.

The regular panel of jurors was exhausted Monday night at 5:55. Unwilling to hold night court Judge Braham ordered Sheriff M. M. Lynam to empanel fifteen more and have them in court this morning at nine o'clock.

Various Reasons
Of the fifteen, a number had conscientious scruples against capital punishment, others had fixed opinions as to the guilt or innocence, and

Junior Chamber Names Representatives In GNCA

The Junior Chamber of Commerce in a special election in The Castle last night, chose eight of its members to be its spokesmen in the newly formed Greater New Castle Association.

Two members, John P. Brinton, junior chamber vice president and attorney Elmer D. O'Neill were elected to sit on the new GNCA board of directors, while six others, Attorney Edward M. Rea, Robert A. Wein-gartner, C. Edson Rummell, A. Bruce Ewing, John F. Dickson and Francis S. Sowersby, junior chamber secretary, were named to the GNCA advisory council.

In the Greater New Castle Association set-up, the junior chamber is apportioned one-sixth of the representation and is thereby permitted to choose two directors and six advisory council members. Brinton was named a director for a two-year term and O'Neill for one year.

About 150 Attend
With close to 150 active and associate members attending, the junior chamber in regular session heard new reports on its many community-betterment activities and heard new projects submitted.

President Presley N. Jones presided throughout the evening session which opened at 7:45 and continued until about 11.

Reports on the following were heard:
The proposal to sponsor a Soap Box derby in the future; forthcoming dedication of New Castle airport at Parkstown Corners; establishment of the junior chamber office as the "World's Fair center here;" proposed efforts to maintain one-way traffic over Route 422 in the Portersville section where closing is planned, all summer, because of the World's Fair traffic; a big dance for members and their ladies; proposal to bring the U. S. Marine band here again, and others.

A group of new members was formally welcomed by President Jones.

Lawrence County Board Members Quit As Result Of James' Request

Resignations of the members of the Lawrence County Public Assistance board today had been formally accepted by Governor Arthur H. James.

The governor, in a letter he himself signed, accepted the resignation of Board Chairman Paul F. Butz, and it is understood every member received a similar letter. All resigned a short time ago at the governor's request.

A new county board will probably be named within a short time. Members, all of whom serve without pay, supervise the administrative policies of the public assistance work in this county.

President Sends New Request For Funds For W.P.A.

Third Demand On Congress For Emergency Relief Funds Since January 3

"INVASION" NOW BEING THREATENED

Measures Being Considered In Effort To Force Approval By Congress

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 14.—President Roosevelt today sent to congress a request for additional emergency funds to carry the WPA relief rolls until July 1, beginning of the new fiscal year. It was the president's third demand on Congress for emergency relief appropriations since Congress convened January 3. The president's first request for funds was $875,000,000, but Congress slashed this to $725,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt then asked, in a special message, for the $150,000,000 which had been denied him. This request was not acted upon. Today's message was the third on the nation's relief needs.

To Show Strength

Washington, March 14.—An "invasion" of Washington to force congressional approval of a $150,000,000 emergency relief fund for the W. P. A. was threatened today as Congress headed toward its most spectacular battle of the session over the issue. Backers of liberal relief funds disclosed that Mayor F. N. LaGuardia of New York city, may be asked to lead the "March" on Washington, which would take the form of a "national convention" of organizations vitally interested in big relief appropriations.

Rejecting the idea of the old "hunger march"—stage before relief forces became organized—sponsors of the plan proposed to link the U. S. conference of mayors, the workers alliance and similar groups in a conference to impress congress.

Beer Distributor Believed Suicide

Police Convinced That Rochester Man Ended Own Life On Monday

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 14.—The death of Frank Cutrona, 60, beer distributor found shot to death in his automobile yesterday, today was believed by authorities here to have been self-inflicted.

Police said that a thorough investigation showed that the beer distributor had shot himself with a .32 revolver as he sat in his own car outside his place of business. The gun was found by his side, it was reported.

The body was discovered just two hours before the opening of the trial of Luis "The Carpenter" Tolento, another beer distributor, who is being tried for the murder of Tony Spitala, Monaca beer salesman. Powder stains were found on Cutrona's hands and clothing, police reported.

PRAGUE, March 14.—Amid scenes of riotous enthusiasm, the independent Republic of Slovakia today as first step in final disintegration of the once proud, treaty-born nation of Czecho-Slovakia.

Under the sponsorship of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, Dr. Jos. Tiso set himself up as prime minister of the new state, issued a proclamation announcing that the "yoke of Prague" had been thrown off and called for presidential elections to take place within a fortnight. Prague itself, resigned to virtual extinction under the irresistible pressure of Hitler's "drang nach Osten" (drive to the east), took its defeat lying down.

Blizzard Hits New England

Report 23 Dead In Wake Of Worst Storm Of Kind In Fifty Years

BIG SNOW DRIFTS MAY CAUSE FLOODS

(International News Service)

BOSTON, March 14.—Flood and fire threats rose in New England today as 23 dead were counted in the wake of the worst blizzard in 50 years.

Back road communities, buried under deep drifts, were inaccessible to fire fighters while meteorologists expressed fear that a heavy rainfall or sudden rise in temperature would unleash spring floods on communities now buried under snow drifts 15 and 20 feet deep.

Floods Feared
The flood menace led to the organization of flood patrols throughout Massachusetts. D. E. Ross, federal meteorologist at Concord, N. H., returned from a visit to the headwaters of the Merrimack river with the assertion that spring floods are inevitable because of the depth of snow in the woods.

The storm finally roared northward turning out to sea, up-setting shipping schedules. In some northern New England points the snow-fall reached unprecedented proportions. Norway, Me. reported a 25-inch deposit, while Berlin N. H. was buried under 30 inches. Portland, Me. reported a record fall of 20 inches.

Most storm deaths were attributed to overexertion in shoveling or extricating automobiles from snowdrifts.

Hungary Occupies Villages In Ruthenia

By GEORGE BALINT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST, March 14.—Hungary stepped into the newly-tangled central European situation today, occupying a number of villages in Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine) and thus serving notice that further partitions of Czecho-Slovakia cannot be effected without her approval.

CZECH DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service)

Hungary waded into the central European crisis today, dispatching a mysterious ultimatum to Prague as fighting raged on the Ruthenian-Hungarian border and Slovakia proclaimed her independence from the war-born Czech republic.

While Germany pressed for division of Czecho-Slovakia into three Reich-sponsored states, Hungarian troops occupied a number of Ruthenian villages.

Major developments:
BUDAPEST—Hungarian troops occupied a large number—perhaps as many as 30—Ruthenian towns, mowing down any resistance they encountered.

BERLIN—Chancellor Hitler received Slovakian message, announcing proclamation of independence and declaring that the "Czech yoke" had been thrown off.

PRAGUE—Czech troops withdrew from Slovakia as Diet at Bratislava proclaimed independence. Joseph Tiso established a new government and prepared for a presidential election. Ruthenia was variously reported also to have declared its independence, or to be about to do so momentarily.

VIENNA—Soldiers in full war kit clogged streets and roads as they headed for Slovak frontier.

Czecho-Slovakia To Disappear As Nation Result Of Secessions

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, March 14.—Under relentless Nazi hammer-blows Czecho-Slovakia fell to pieces today.

Slovakia itself, with a population of 2,500,000, seceded from the Czecho-Slovak Federation and established itself as an independent republic under the sponsorship of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

Ruthenia, otherwise known as Carpatho-Ukraine, was expected to follow Slovakia's lead at any moment. That province, easternmost tip of what was once the Czecho-Slovak republic, was the scene of violent clashes today.

Hungarian Troops Move

Hungarian troops, apparently acting with the knowledge and consent of Berlin, crossed the border into Ruthenia and occupied a number of towns after heavy fighting.

In Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, Dr. Joseph Tiso, former premier ousted from office by the Czechs because of his separatist demands, proclaimed Slovakian independence in a message to Adolf Hitler.

"The Czech yoke has been shaken off," his manifesto said.

He then asked Hitler to rush immediate Nazi aid to guarantee preservation of the new independent state against opposition and subversion.

The appeal, this correspondent learned, will be answered shortly in a decisive fashion.

Three Boys Are Killed By Auto

Fourth Boy Seriously Hurt, Boys Standing On Porch, Car Out Of Control

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., March 14.—Police today arrested Charles Kollar, Vandenberg, near Scranton, as the hit-and-run driver of an automobile which struck and killed three boys and injured a fourth boy and a man at Childs, 15 miles north of this city.

Residents of the Upper Valley were shocked and authorities were aroused by the killings. The boys were mowed down last night when the machine crashed into a store porch on which they were standing. The dead:

John Kochmar, 12; Samuel Sears, 14; and James Galuzzi, 10, all of Childs. Kochmar was dead when townsfolk lifted him from the wrecked store front, while the other two boys died while being rushed to St. Joseph's hospital, Carbondale.

A fourth boy, Paul Misho, 10, also of Childs, was in a critical condition in the hospital.

Police reported that the death driver was fleeing from an accident in which Constantine Garilla, 48, Sturges, was knocked down and seriously hurt. Garilla related that the hit-runner sped away after striking him, plowed into a gasoline pump 20 feet from the road and plunged into the porch.

Darlington Man Back In Prison

Resumes Serving Of Term In Tennessee Prison After Four Year's Liberty

PETROS, Tenn., March 14.—Tennessee's "Jean Val Jean"—Virgil Finley Sherill, 28, who escaped from the Bush Mountain prison camp in Petros more than four years ago and went to Darlington, Pa., where he married and lived as a respectable citizen, was back in prison today to finish a five-year sentence for stealing 90 cents.

Sherill escaped after serving only two months of the sentence. He fled to Pennsylvania where he became a model citizen, later marrying and now has two children. His wife is expecting a third. His identity was established several days ago.

A request that Sherill be put to work in the mines so he could earn extra money was refused because of his health. He will work on the prison farm, and authorities pointed out if he is a "model prisoner" he will be out in 1942—unless he is pardoned by Gov. Gordon Browning earlier.

FALSE ECONOMY CHARGED IN MOVE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 14.—Continuing his attack against Gov. Arthur H. James' recommendation that the newly constructed Butler sanatorium be left vacant for the next two years, Sen. C. Hale Sipe, Butler-Armstrong Democrat, said there were enough tuberculosis patients in western Pennsylvania today to fill every bed in the hospital within a month after opening.

Sipe termed the governor's pronouncement the same thing as "telling them (the tuberculosis victims) to get ready for the grave."

Again terming the proposal to keep the hospital closed "false economy," Senator Sipe said: "The governor knows that the savings incident to keeping this hospital closed are just a drop in the bucket compared to the costs of the state as a whole."

"Any economy is false," said Sipe, "that ignores the value of human life. Any economy is false that withholds money from nurses and doctors and gives it to undertakers and grave diggers."

SLOVAKIA NOW PROCLAIMED AS NEW REPUBLIC

gates and helpless against the Nazi juggernaut, the Czechs gave only the feeblest resistance.

President Emil Hacha himself was reported contemplating a visit to Hitler in Berlin, probably to find out just what parts of the nation—in other words how much of Bohemia and Moravia—will be left under the administration of Prague.

In the meantime he broadcast an appeal to the people of the entire nation to remain calm "in the presence of the historic events now transpiring in Bratislava."

At the same moment, Czech troops were recalled from Bratislava. By platoons and battalions, they slowly began withdrawing from all of Slovakia on the stroke of noon.

And at that same moment, not a single German soldier had crossed the frontier to carry out unspoken threats of armed assault in the event of resistance.

At 3:10 p. m., President Emil Hacha of Czecho-Slovakia left for Berlin aboard a special train for a personal interview with Hitler, presumably to find out just what parts of his nation—in other words how much of Bohemia and Moravia—will be left under the administration of Prague.

Hacha's special consisted of two saloon cars. The train was seen off by two members of the German legation.

Political circles believed that reconstruction of the Prague government will await conclusion of his conference with the fuhrer.

Tumultuous Acclaim
In Bratislava, Tiso's declaration of independence was greeted with tumultuous acclaim. Children were given a holiday from school. In a twinkling, myriad swastikas and Slovakian national flags broke out in a blizzard of bunting throughout the city.

The proclamation was embodied into a parliamentary resolution and voted unanimously by the 62 members of the Slovak diet. After the vote had been cast, the deputies arose and sang the national anthem. Tiso told the deputies of his long conference with Hitler in Berlin last night.

"If the Slovaks abide by the principle of racial self-determination, the Germans will support them," Tiso reported the fuhrer had said. "If not," he added, "so much worse for the Slovaks."

Slovakia's independence was proclaimed after Tiso returned hurriedly by air from Berlin, where he conferred with Chancellor Hitler. He brought back with him an ultimatum from the German chancellor that Czech troops would have 10 hours to leave Slovakia.

fice has ceased to recognize the government of President Emil Hacha at Prague. Frantisek Mastny, Czech minister to Berlin, has been declared persona non grata, it was understood.

Slovakia Independent Nation
In his message to Hitler, Tiso expressed the hope that Slovakian independence will rebound to the benefit of European peace.

"The Slovak people," he said, "today have shaken off an intolerable yoke."

"Slovakia is now an independent nation."

"This historic step will bring in its wake benefits of immeasurable value to the peace of Europe."

On the heels of Tiso's message came reports that Ruthenia had already declared its independence. A reliable dispatch said that Premier Volosin of Ruthenia had telegraphed a request to Italy and to Germany for aid as guarantors of the Vienna agreement which supplemented the pact of Munich.

The appeal cited action of Hungarian troops in crossing the Carpatho-Ukrainian frontier.

It became evident as the hours passed that the net result of the breath-taking developments of the last 24 hours would be the complete disappearance of Czecho-Slovakia as a European nation.

stone. The stone was thrown and a skunk was seen to move away from the scene. The youth followed up to attack with another rock. The motorist didn't wait to see the final outcome of the battle, moving into "safe" territory.

Property owners who take great pride in the lawns fronting their homes would appreciate it very much if people who find it necessary to go from door to door in their work, would use the sidewalks rather than walk across the grass. More damage can be done right now than later on in the year, because the grass is just starting and is easily killed. Also the soft condition of the ground allows holes made by shoe heels to become much deeper.

Pa News noticed the number of people who delight in walking on the wrong side of the sidewalk and thus test their agility by weaving in and out of oncoming pedestrian traffic. They seem to want to see how far they can walk without running into anybody, and usually wind up taking about two steps before just that happens. This condition is particularly prevalent on Saturdays, when the sidewalks are crowded.

When the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association meets tonight to view the films taken by Robert "Bob" Ford of Homestead, they may see two young men from New Castle make their appearance on the screen. Last deer season Mr. Ford was up in the mountains making some pictures when he came across Joe Frew, of North Cedar street, and W. W. "Red" King, of North Liberty street and their sons, Joe and Bill. The two young men, still just finishing shooting their first deer, and in the first hour of the season, which is quite an accomplishment for two young fellows who have just entered their teens. Mr. Ford had the lads pose with the deer and their guns while he "shot" a few scenes.

Bright and early this morning two men were seen walking along East Washington street, near the City building carrying two horses. Incidentally, the horses were of the wooden variety.

Due to the heavy fog this morning many motorists found it necessary to turn on their car lights, and quite a number forgot to turn them off again after the weather had cleared.

still others were challenged peremptorily. Court recessed at eleven o'clock until one.

Miss Maravola came into court entirely in gray today. At nine she came in with Mrs. M. M. Ingham, wife of the sheriff. She had on a gray crepe dress, gray hose and gray suede shoes. The vestresses apparently Monday afternoon seemed still with her and about mid-morning she broke into convulsive sobs.

Her father, Michael Maravola was with her again today and at the commonwealth table sat Michael A. Rich, Sr., father of the deceased.

boy, his son, Joseph, who was talking to Michael Jr., on the telephone at or shortly before the shooting on February 3, and two cousins.

District Attorney John G. Lamoree has been examining all the jurors for the commonwealth, but when Mrs. Eva Leah Lindsley was called, former Judge Chambers said "you are a niece of mine are you not?"

Mrs. Lindsley replied she was and was then asked if this fact would influence her judgment. She hesitated before answering and Judge Braham asked if her relationship with Judge Chambers might influence her opinion, to which she replied, "I am very fond of him and I am afraid my relationship might influence my judgment." She was excused.

Large Crowd
The crowd this morning looked like the middle of a sensational trial. At eight fifteen the court room was crowded to the doors and Court Crier Clifford Vance ordered the doors closed. The crowd kept coming and overflowed into court room number two. Despite the fact that the case in number two is merely an assault and battery case, the crowd stayed and one hundred and fifty crowded the stairs down to the landing.

When court recessed most of the crowd stayed on in court room number one, apparently afraid to lose the seats if any of them left. Only the seating capacity and one deep standing around the walls is permitted.

From the indications at the recess before noon today little testimony will be taken before three thirty or four o'clock this afternoon. This will probably be a confirmation testimony as to the death of Michael A. Rich, Jr., locating the scene of the crime, the facts of the arrest and other attendant information.

Panel Exhausted

With but one juror remaining to be accepted for the murder case now going on in the Lawrence County court house against Angeline Maravola, the panel of jurors was exhausted at 5:55 Monday night and Judge W. Walter Braham ordered Sheriff M. M. Ingham to empanel 15 special talesmen to report at the opening of court today.

Of the 80 originally empaneled to serve in the present term of criminal court, 13 were not available due to sickness, death, removal or excuse from the court. With five names still in the box, eleven jurors remained to be examined, but out of the five, none qualified. Some had formed opinions which they could not change others were opposed to capital punishment.

Defendant Looks Weary

Angeline Maravola, the girl who is on trial who shot and killed Michael A. Rich, Jr., in Hillsville on February 3, looked the worse for wear as the long day's session closed. Her head drooped, her eyes lacked the luster they had in the morning and she seemed thoroughly tired out. At times during the afternoon session, she broke out into tears.

As the panel was exhausted the commonwealth had used 16 of its 20 peremptory challenges, the defense 12. When these are exhausted on either side the counsel must accept a juror unless he disqualifies himself.

Four Women

Four of the eleven jurors accepted to decide the fate of Angeline Maravola were women, an unusual percentage for a murder jury. Of the eleven only one, Earl Cover of Mahoning township resides any where near the scene of the shooting. Six come from the Ellwood City district, one from Union Township, one from Plaingrove, and two from New Castle.

The jurors are in charge of Tipstaves Jack Sines and Mrs. Mary Coy. They are being fed in the Y. W. C. A. and lodged in the Fountain Inn.

Thorough Examination

The examination of the jurors was a thorough one on both sides. For the commonwealth District Attorney John G. Lamoree wanted to know if they had formed an opinion, if they knew counsel for the opposing side, if they knew any of the Rich family, if they had any scruples against capital punishment and if it was shown if there had been any sexual intimacy between the defendant and the deceased if this would sway their verdict. For the defense, Attorneys Edwin K. Logan and Samuel L. Clark asked if they had any fixed opinion, if they knew counsel for the opposing side, if they could give the defendant a fair trial.

Midway in the afternoon the crowd in the court room thinned out. Satisfied apparently that there would be no thrills in the case for Monday, many of the spectators left. As jurors were excused from service on the murder case they were taken into court room number two.

He is survived by a daughter, Margaret A., at home in Erie, a son, George S., of Richmond, Cal. He was a member of the Erie & Ash-tabula Division Veterans' association of the Penns.

For 15 years he has resided in the lake city. Funeral services will be held in Erie Wednesday afternoon at three and burial will be in Sharpville, Pa.

Mrs. Iosipine Phipps Douglas

A well known former New Castle resident, Mrs. Iosipine Phipps Douglas passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Kerber, 930 North Lincoln avenue, North Side, Pittsburgh, on Sunday, according to word received by her nieces and nephews in New Castle.

Funeral services will take place at North Side Pittsburgh Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be made there also.

Mrs. Douglas, who was over 80 years of age, lived in New Castle for many years. The Phipps family resided on County Line street.

Surviving are two sons and two daughters.

Peter Zielski

Peter Zielski, aged 58 years, died at his home in Shenango township, New Castle R. D. 7, at 9 o'clock Monday, March 13, after a long illness.

Mr. Zielski was born in Poland and came to New Castle 32 years ago. He was a member of the local SS. Philip and James church.

His wife, Rose; two daughters, Mrs. Julia Lapiga and Mrs. Frances Tokar of Volant; three sons, Walter and Alexander at home and Bronislaw in a C. C. C. camp in New Mexico, and four grandchildren survive.

Services are to be conducted on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from the home, and a requiem mass at 9:30 o'clock in SS. Philip and James church, with Rev. V. V. Stanekowski as celebrant. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. Warnock

Funeral services for Mrs. Jane McKnight Warnock took place at 2 p. m. Monday at the Scott township residence, with Rev. Robert E. Douglass pastor of the Neshannock United Presbyterian church, in charge, assisted by a relative of the deceased, Rev. Charles Stunkard, of Fredonia.

During the services two hymns which had been favorites of Mrs. Warnock's, "The Lord is My Shepherd" and "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" were used.

Pallbearers were Kinzie McKnight, William McKnight, William Dicks, Ernest Patterson, Carl Richeal and Perry Forbes. Interment was in Graceland cemetery.

Hambrick Funeral Time

Funeral services for the late Noah Hambrick will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Thursday from St. Paul's Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. M. Cecil Mills, in charge. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

The body, now at the Crunkleton funeral home, will be returned to the residence, 804 West North street, Wednesday evening.

Moore Funeral Time

serious disorders and dissatisfaction of minorities which led inevitably today to a declaration of Slovak independence.

Surprise For Hitler
It was apparent in Budapest that if Reichsfuhrer Adolf Hitler hopes to split up Czecho-Slovakia into a scattered group of independent states all under Nazi domination he is due for a surprise in the shape of Hungarian intransigence.

This nation cherishes a definite claim upon Carpatho-Ukraine, and in furtherance of this, troops were rushed into the disordered areas of Ruthenia with no loss of time.

The villages of Kendereske, Klastromlja, Torneyajva and many other border towns—perhaps as many as thirty all told—were occupied by Hungarian troops. In some cases resistance was encountered and mowed down. In others, the municipalities fell into Hungarian hands without a vestige of opposition.

Hoist Hungarian Flags
The municipal officials of some towns and villages resurrected Hungarian flags and hoisted them from the flagpoles of town halls without any bidding from Budapest whatsoever.

Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, conferred at length with the German and Italian ministers, Count Stephen Czak, foreign minister and General Charles Barvakia and a Hungarian ultimatum to Prague demanding that the right of self-determination be granted to Ruthenia (Carpatho-Ukraine).

The general impression prevailed in informed quarters that the German army would enter Slovakia tonight after an ultimatum demanding Czech evacuation of the territory has been delivered.

Editor's note: Prague dispatches reported the gradual withdrawal of Czech troops from Slovakia from noon onward.

'SPIRITUAL BIRTHDAY' AT MISSION TONIGHT
The seventh "spiritual birthday" of a New Castle resident will be observed in a program at the City Rescue Mission tonight at 8, it is announced. A special program of music will be enjoyed. Young men of the First M. E. church will assist in the program.

The mission today announced that a special "homecoming service" will be held on April 2.

NOVENA STARTS TONIGHT AT 7:30
The annual St. Anthony Novena starts tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the St. Vitus church.

The Novena will be conducted for 13 consecutive Tuesdays. During the event the Rev. Fr. Butterach will deliver sermons on "The Life of St. Anthony."

SHENANGO CHOIR, 333 HONORS MRS. L. WEBER

A lovely affair of Monday evening was the dinner party given in the Y. W. C. A. by choir members of Shenango Chapter, No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star. The event was planned especially to honor Mrs. Lena L. Weber, retiring worthy matron. She was presented with a beautiful gift, as a token of appreciation for her loyalty and support given during her year of office.

At 6:30 a full course chicken dinner was served at tables attractively appointed in the Easter motif. Novel miniature flower pots holding plants, marked each place as favors, and "Easter bonnets" were distributed as additional mementos.

Following a short rehearsal a social period featured, with contests filling in the hours. For bridge, Mrs. Lena Weber was winner of the prize, while in 500 Mrs. Clara Remley carried off the trophy. In the miscellaneous games, Mrs. Lillian Buckner was the fortunate prize winner.

Mrs. Bernice Parker, general chairman in charge, was aided in making the evening such an enjoyable one, by a group of three aides, Mrs. Birdie Dietterle, Mrs. Harriet Hammond and Miss Elizabeth Reese.

Betty Webber Hostess

Miss Betty Webber, Dushane street was a pleasing hostess Saturday evening when members of the Old Curiosity club gathered for a social time.

The hours were spent in playing various games, and dancing was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Shirley McKnight.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Clements, Dushane street, the date to be announced later.

Group To Meet

Miss Kathleen Webster will receive members of the O. U. R. class of the Epworth M. E. church at her home on Pine street Thursday evening at 7:30.

America Change

America club members will have a theatre party on Friday evening at 6:45 instead of the regular meeting on Thursday evening.

YUCATAN MEMBERS GUESTS AT DINNER

Yucatan club members were delightfully entertained Monday evening when Mrs. W. E. Jackson and Mrs. W. B. Gormley received them at a downtown tea room for a lovely dinner party.

Following the serving at 6:30, games were enjoyed and the prize winners were Mrs. J. Norman Martin and Howard Kirk.

March 27 is the date of the next meeting.

MRS. H. VOORHEES IS HOSTESS TO GROUP

Mrs. H. G. Voorhees was a pleasing hostess Monday evening when she received members of the T. L. T. Kensington club at her home on Chestnut street.

Informal pastimes were enjoyed and the hostess' prize was awarded to Mrs. Emma McKissick. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Zola Dick.

Mrs. Florence Cartwright will entertain at her home on Croton avenue, March 27.

DRY GOODS COMPANY GIRLS HONOR BRIDE

Mrs. James Durant, nee Virginia Schenck, a bride of recent date, was honored at a shower on a recent evening, when her co-workers in the offices of the New Castle Dry Goods Company, entertained informally at The Castleton Hotel.

The occasion was in the form of a 7 o'clock dinner party, and following the serving, a program of varied entertainment held attention. The guest of honor was the recipient of a handsome gift of silver, to complete her set of sterling ware.

L. O. L. NO. 200

Members of the L. O. L. No. 200 will meet on Wednesday evening at 7:30, in the Modern Woodman's hall, East Washington street.

Following, a social hour will be held for members and friends.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS FINE ARTS ASSEMBLY

A most interesting program marked the March meeting of the Fine Arts Department of Women's club in the home of Mrs. J. Glenn Berry, 117 Hazelcroft avenue, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Alva M. Shumaker was speaker for the day and she reviewed Van Doren's 800 page "Biography of Benjamin Franklin" in an especially interesting manner.

Mrs. William J. Hinkson opened the program with three musical selections, "Ouvre Tes yeux Cieux", "Elegie", by Massenet, and "Love's In My Heart", by Woodman. These numbers were capably presented and well received by the department.

Tea was served at the conclusion of the program from a beautifully appointed table, presided over by Mrs. A. B. Foster, president of the Woman's club. Mrs. Berry's aids were Mrs. J. L. Reed, Mrs. E. F. Henderson and Mrs. C. A. Gardner. Mrs. Ross Rosenberger is chairman of this department.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Orville Brown, Lincoln avenue, on April 10. Mrs. Louis Kohn will present the program.

MRS. ANDREW CARLSON IS HONORED AT DINNER

Mrs. Louis Lundeen and Mrs. Frank Bruno entertained at a lovely dinner party Monday evening in honor of their mother, Mrs. Andrew Carlson, at her East New Castle home.

It was Mrs. Carlson's birthday and friends came to the home from New Castle, Wampum and the surrounding communities bringing hearty greetings and best wishes.

At 6 o'clock a delicious dinner was served by Mrs. Lundeen, Mrs. John Carlson and Miss Naomi Hall. The large birthday cake at the table center was surrounded by delicate pink tea roses and presented a festive appearance. Numerous gifts were given to Mrs. Carlson.

MRS. J. E. DUFF IS HOSTESS TO CLASS

Mrs. J. E. Duff of Wallace avenue entertained ladies of the Current Events class at a meeting in the Y. W. C. A. Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The usual program of current topic discussion, always new and interesting, was conducted, and Mrs. Frank Woods presided over a session of class business. It was announced that on Monday, March 27, Mrs. J. Johnston Fisher will be the hostess at her home, 215 North Jefferson street.

Couple Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. McMullen, nee Doris M. Leonard, whose marriage was recently announced, were honored at a shower given by Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, Friday evening, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Leonard, Euclid avenue.

Games were played during the evening, and at the conclusion, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. S. W. Leonard, Mrs. Carl Staebler and Miss Bertha Staebler. The table was centered with a large white wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The honored couple received many beautiful gifts for use in their home.

Temple Youth Club

Elaborately decorated, the ballroom of Temple Israel formed the scene for the informal Purim dance, sponsored by the Temple Youth club on March 11.

During the evening, four novelty dances were presented, the balloon, shoe, broom and orange dances. Refreshments were served, buffet style. Friends attended from New York, Youngstown, Beaver Falls and Ellwood City.

Those on the committee in charge of this most successful event included: Fuzzy Raffel, Harvey Lewis, Paula Levine, Jean Edlestein, Mollie Ginsberg and Natalie Ehrlich. They were assisted by Miss Sarah Cukerbaum and Rabbi Norman Diamond.

L. A. B. Club

Members of the L. A. B. club will meet in the home of Mrs. Anna McClymonds, Park avenue, on Thursday evening. Their anniversary dinner was originally scheduled for that evening.

FEDERATION JUNIORS FASHIONS ON THURSDAY

Thursday evening, the Federation Juniors will give a fashion revue in the New Castle Dry Goods company store, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, which will mark an outstanding event on their March calendar. Miss Ann Whittaker is chairman in charge.

What M'Lady will wear this season will be revealed with the Federation Junior girls modeling. There will be no entertainment afterwards.

CLUB MEMBER HONORED ON MONDAY EVENING

Mrs. Harry Haymond was taken by complete surprise on Monday evening, when members of the C. C. S. club gathered at the home of Mrs. Margaret Fletcher, of Beckford street, to honor her with a lovely towel shower. Mrs. Haymond is leaving tomorrow to make her new home in Brentwood, Pittsburgh.

Games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Charles Shoaff and Mrs. C. Turner.

Later, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Garbitt and Mrs. Ruth Withers.

Mrs. Ruth Withers will be hostess to the club in two weeks at her home on DuShane street.

ART ASSOCIATION HAS DINNER-MEET

Lawrence County Art Association members held their monthly dinner meeting in a local hotel Monday evening and elected new officers at the close. They are: president, Mrs. Clara Lightner; vice president, Grace L. McCabe; secretary, Rosina McGurk; treasurer, Jean Jackson.

One of the most interesting parts of the meeting came when Mrs. Lightner ably presented a new modern technique in stenciling which had been worked out by Prof. Emmy Zweybruck of Vienna, Austria, and some very clever pictures were the result of the lesson.

The group will meet again next month.

Mrs. Freda Ryhal, 313 Bell avenue, was hostess Monday to members of the Merry Workers club. Plans were made at this time for a St. Patrick's Day party to be held with Mary Clark of the Harbor as hostess, on Friday, March 17. They also decided to have a shower for Mrs. Edward Ryhal on Thursday, March 23.

Later, a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Ryhal, aided by Mrs. Kate Fabian, a special guest.

The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Edward Ryhal, West Washington street, on March 27.

Busy Fingers Club

Mrs. Jerry Frasso entertained members of the Busy Fingers club, Monday evening at her home on Division street.

Sewing claimed the attention. The club token was captured by Mrs. Joseph Ambrosia. An added feature of the evening was an accordion solo by Anthony Frasso.

At an appropriate hour, the hostess served a delicious lunch, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Ambrosia.

On March 20, Mrs. Albert Colella will be hostess to the group, at her residence on Lyndal street.

G. H. E. M. Club

Plans to visit the new mushroom mine at Wampum on Wednesday, March 15, were made at the G. H. E. M. club meeting held recently with Mrs. Marie Irvine as hostess. Following, the group will go to the home of Mrs. Hazel McHattie, Ellwood City, for an afternoon tea.

Prizes for games went to Mrs. Matilda Swick and Grace Mattocks. The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Ruth Piper, Knox Plan, Ellwood City.

Old Time Rebekahs will meet with Mrs. Edith Campbell, 921 West Washington street, on Wednesday, March 15, at noon for their regular luncheon dinner.

GLASS-SHAW WEDDING ON MONDAY EVENING

A quiet and impressive wedding took place at 8 o'clock Monday evening, when Miss Dorothy Glass, daughter of Mrs. William Evans of East Lutton street and Edmund Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Shaw, of 98 South Lee avenue, were united in marriage, at the home of Rev. Milton E. Shearer, on Boyles avenue. They were unattended.

Following the wedding, a reception took place at the home of the bride's parents.

After March 20, the couple will reside at 723 Cunningham avenue.

Both the bride and the groom are employees of the Shenango Pottery.

RACHAEL REBEKAHS ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

A St. Patrick's party was enjoyed by members of the Rachael Rebekah lodge on Monday evening when they gathered in the I. O. O. F. hall at 7:30 o'clock.

A program of stunts, contests and other entertainment in keeping with the approaching holiday, caused much excitement. Prizes were carried off by Mrs. Louella Rivor, Miss Sara McCormick and Mrs. Nellie Tribbitt.

Lunch was served at the close, with 50 or more seated about the colorfully appointed tables.

Preceding the program, a short business period was conducted, with Mrs. Susie Wade, vice-grand, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Anna Fenton, noble grand, who is seriously ill.

In two weeks members will meet in regular session.

MRS. MATTIE TURNER HOSTESS FOR GROUP

Woman's Benefit Association, Review 98, Officers' club held a meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Mattie Turner, Almira avenue. Mrs. O. G. Crook and Mrs. Ira Campbell were co-hostesses and Mrs. Margaret Sherbine assisted.

Games of 500 and bingo were provided for entertainment during the hours. High score prizes were awarded to Anna Patterson, Mrs. Ethel Thomas, Mrs. Margaret Sherbine and Mrs. Tillie Hartman.

Next meeting will be held on Monday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. Clyde Thomas, West Washington street. Mrs. Catherine McClintock and Mrs. Tillie Hartman will be co-hostesses.

MISS MARY MOORHEAD RECEIVES EVENTS '06

Miss Mary Moorhead was a pleasing hostess to the Current Events of '06 Monday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Clarence Aiken on Fairfield avenue, when they met in regular session.

The usual routine was observed, and "Presidents' Day Superstitions" were told in answer to roll call, with eighteen responding. The usual business period was followed by an informal program, when Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand reported on the Legislative Committee. Current topics were given as the concluding feature.

On March 27, Mrs. George Ramsey of 222 North Mulberry street, will receive the group at her residence.

Sigma Delta Chi Meets

Sigma Delta Chi members had their St. Patrick's Day meeting in the home of Miss Helen McCollum, Hazel street, Monday evening. At this meeting, the group made necessary alterations in their constitution and decided that every other meeting should be a social event. The next meeting, therefore, on March 27, will be social.

The remainder of the evening was spent informally, and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

M. S. S. Club Meets

A pleasant evening was Monday when members of the M. S. S. club assembled in the home of Angelyn Conglose on Home street.

Prizes for high score in cards were awarded to Norma Gemlin and Dorothy Micco. The club token was won by Sylvia Zannoni.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Concetta Conglose.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DARK CLOSET NOT WISE DISCIPLINE

As a rule, teachers are very much more considerate of children and employ more humane and effective punishments than do the children's parents. But when a child with an understanding parent has a teacher who resorts to unwise modes of discipline, his parent naturally is distressed.

A case in point is reported by a Bay State mother:

"My son, Peter, is five and attends kindergarten. He is an extremely active boy, although at school he is timid and very slow. I am a former teacher having a college degree."

"Today he came home from school with swollen eyes, saying he never wanted to go back to school. I called his teacher for an explanation of what happened. She told me that the seat work was cutting-out, and he was doing very well when suddenly he burst into tears. He agitated her so she put him in a dark closet until he stopped crying."

Teacher Unwise

Obviously, this teacher was unwise. She should have tried to find out why that little child was weeping, to soothe him and divert his attention from the source of distress. And, of all things, to put a child in a dark closet!

When we are sure a teacher disciplines our child unwisely, it is not easy to know what is best to do. Usually we lose balance then and let ourselves grow agitated, even in the presence of the child, when the effect on him is bad. It's the time to pray for poise and self-control.

Such an indictment as the one described is so serious that you hardly could risk its repetition. Yet, you must be clever enough to win the teacher's co-operation. To antagonize her is to pile up more suffering for your child. Therefore, when you telephone her or go to see her, be sure you have perfect self-control. Go to persuade and win, not to condemn and antagonize. Make clear to the teacher you expect her to manage the child as she sees fit, but endeavor to attract her to the way you see. And good luck.

Dark Closet at Home

For one child jailed in a dark closet at school, a thousand are so punished at home. It's not the closet that's bad, but the darkness of the prison. If, indeed, the closet were light and airy, it might afford an excellent means of deserved punishment of young children. Some parents of young children would do well to put a large glass door (cheaper to install a light) so as to have a good jail for the errant toy.

As you know, such a lighted closet would practically be a model of the "scientific" jail used to discipline the famous five sisters of the same age. But, as I have said before in this column, I consider it more practical and desirable to build a jail without visible walls in the child's nervous system. Accordingly, as soon as he has learned to respect authority (as early as three or four, we hope) spanking can easily be abandoned. In its stead, for effective punishment, you can assign the little offender to sit in a certain place for exactly 15 minutes, say. Either a jail with glass walls or one without walls is better than the tongue.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A GREAT SHIELD

The annual observance of Brotherhood Week from February 19 to 26, which was sponsored with special programs by the National Conference of Christians and Jews, occurred in an especially appropriate period. Just one hundred fifty years ago that week, the American States were ratifying the Constitution which shortly afterward was amended by the great Amendments known as the Bill of Rights—our Magna Carta of religious liberty.

It is fitting today that Protestant, Romanist and Jewish leaders should urge "a new study of the Bill of Rights and its implications for a free America." A free America has its roots imbedded in the Bill of Rights and can survive only so long as we cherish the rights with which it has endowed all free men. The very first clause of the first of the ten Amendments is a testament to liberty: "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

We have long taken this as a matter of course, and until recently it was natural to do so. But today we find that natural right challenged. Liberty-hating dogmas would deny Protestants, Romanists and Jews the right to worship as they deem best. It is proper that those groups should jointly urge a new study of the Bill of Rights, for a threat to the religious liberty of one faith has inevitably proved itself a threat to all faiths.

An attack on the right of any man to worship as he sees fit and proper is born of the spirit of intolerance which knows no surcease till it has destroyed the rights of all men to worship as they see fit and proper. Religious liberty is indivisible.

The measures which constitute America's precious Bill of Rights meant it to be so. To abandon them is to abandon a free America. To keep them is to keep America strong and united in the face of all dangers.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:05. Sun rises tomorrow 6:12.

The Office Grouch says that the latest proverb which comes out of Washington is "All things come to him who wastes."

This country is noted for its free speech, but one thing that is too difficult for us at times is to tell the difference between free speech and cheap talk.

The only difference between rigorous heroes and brutal butchers is that different school histories do the describing.

TOO EARLY YET

The skipper of the night street sweeper wanted to clean the street in front of a local residence the other night but couldn't do it because of the cars parked in front of the place. Noting a light in a window, he went up to see about moving the cars.

"Those cars are those outside?" he asked the man who answered the door.

"Come back along toward morning and I can tell you," said the man.

"Why can't you tell me now?" asked the sweeper man.

"Hang it, man!" exclaimed the householder, "how can I tell you? Our poker game won't be over for a couple of hours yet."

A guest at a small hotel was awakened early one morning by a knock on the door.

"What is it," he called drowsily without getting up.

"A telegram, boss," came the colored bell hop's voice.

"Well, can't you push it under the door without waking me up so early?"

"No, sah, it's on a tray," was the reply.

Now that hair-do has become an accepted term, we wonder if an expert hairdresser could by any stretch of the imagination be termed a "hair-do-well."

A Chicago husband, who had been missing for 35 years, came back recently, stayed only a short time and went away again. Maybe he came back for his toothbrush.

"Little Girl" fashions will be worn by stylish matrons this spring, according to the latest style advice. Must be the influence of all these child bride stories they have been hearing of late.

It has been revealed by a recent investigation that not only were Ohio State penitentiary inmates able to get booze, but they paid for it with counterfeit money. Well, that's probably all it was worth.

When people live in a trailer to get away from it all, the chief thing they are getting away from is having a spare bedroom.

Folks who would like to have things controlled by the government as in Italy and Germany should think twice, and then some. The average wage for industrial workers in Italy in 1938 was eleven cents an hour. Recently they were given a cent an hour increase. Commercial workers average 79 cents per day.

Americanism: Building fighting ships to defend us; leaving them almost helpless by building no merchant ships to carry supplies.

All the old sayings are playing out. If you say a man is womanish, people may take it to mean that he acts like a man.

The State: An imaginary ideal entity; used by dictators to win people who wouldn't make sacrifices for a mere little man.

AN ILLINOIS LEGISLATOR

has introduced a bill which would prohibit movies which feature divorced actors and actresses from showing in that state. He says that marriage vows have become a plaything among young folks because of the example set by their movie idols. We think he's got something there at that.

AND HE CAUGHT IT

A certain New Castle woman's face turned a deep red the other day in a local ice cream parlor. She had gone into the place with her young hopeful just turned five, and when the waitress appeared, the boy yelled loud enough for everyone in the place to hear:

"I want ice cream; mama wants beer."

We can just imagine what happened when Junior got home again with mama.

According to reports, a new poultry feed has been discovered which will cause hens to lay different colored eggs. The poor old Easter Rabbit will be next to go on relief.

We are more polite to the folks we don't like than to our friends. We wonder if that is fair? However, it probably saves us from getting into more punches.

Someone telephoned the police station:

"There's a drunk out here—come and get him."

"Who is he?" asked the desk sergeant.

"Me," came the answer.

A woman married a widower and saved him from blowing in his fortune—she beat him to it.

There's a heap of fun finding one's own news, setting the type, running the press, folding and dressing the papers to submit; and then delivering the precious bundle to the postmaster. How do we know? Because we did it when we were young and striving to be a "journalist" instead of a newspaperman. But most young fellows get those foolish journalistic ideas out of their heads after they have published a country weekly for a few years.

A typical American is one who cusses more or less when he gets a mental picture of Ickes speaking for America.

OFFICE PHILOSOPHER SAYS:

The reason politics make strange bed-fellows is because they all like the same bunk. . . . Lincoln was not so great because he was born in a log cabin but because he got out of it. . . . Never judge a man by his manners towards his superiors—judge him by his manner toward his inferiors. . . . Smiles pay bigger dividends than sneers, and frowns have no value in any market.

Bonnie who is 16 waits every evening for a boy to date her and worries her pretty head off if one does not. To her an evening without a boy is a total loss, a barren waste, a tragic interlude. She boasts of her dislike for her own sex. Patsy, also 16, but not quite so glamorous as Bonnie, accepts boys' attentions only casually, never worrying a jot if she has to spend an evening with the family, between book covers or with a girl chum at the movies. As a result, Patsy has more than twice as many dates as Bonnie—all of which proves that "the watched pot never boils." My version of it is "Health, happiness and husbands are never won while you wait for them."

Reader's Question Answered

Dear Miss Markel—I do not always like to wear a hat but I do wear gloves. Is it proper to wear gloves and not a hat? ALICE.

Answer—There used to be a rule stating that no "lady" ever appeared on the street without a hat, but so many young school girls are now effecting bareheadedness that I am afraid this rule must be modified.

Hotel Strike Is Disrupting
Many Placed On Spot By Labor
Victims Have No Place To Go

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 14—There are some few stunts at which Washington can outdo any other city in the world. For instance, it is hard to think of another metropolis where a strike of hotel employees can dislocate everyday life as it does here. For one thing, the capital has, in proportion to its size, a prodigious number of ultrawanky hostilities. Naturally it does. It has a very large, more or less temporary and financially rather well-heeled population—members of Congress and government officials.

To a great extent these folks are hotel denizens. They patronize first class hotels, too. And of course the place everlastingly is full of transients in the private life classification, in town in connection with dickering between Uncle Samuel and their perfectly enormous corporate interests. These chaps include such personalities as J. P. Morgan occasionally or Wendell Wilkie of Commonwealth and Southern—moguls of the premier order. We even have kings and queens at times. Royalties, to be sure, usually are quartered at their respective embassies, but they have equeries and lords and ladies in waiting who have to find hotel accommodations. These visitors require nobby surroundings.

All of which accounts for our Mayflower, Willards, Carltons, et cetera, the usual stopping-places of our comparatively short-time guests, and for our Wardman Parks and Shorehams, residential hotels mainly patronized by those who stay for quite a while—the executive governmental bunch, Senator and Representatives.

Sure, folks strike-bound! Now, obviously it is most embarrassing to the municipality to have sojourners of this type strike-bound here, wholesale.

The heck of it is that there's nowhere else for them to go.

If Miami were to have a hotel strike, vacationers could go to Palm Beach instead, or stop off at Atlantic City on their way to southern California. But Washington is the only possible concentration point for people who are trying to transact official business.

Kings and queens, foreign emissaries and domestic lobbyists perhaps could have postponed their respective arrivals when the Washington hotel strike was declared. But executive federal functionaries and legislators have to be here all the time, anyway. And at least a solid 50 per cent of them live in hotels outlived by the strikers.

True, the strike-bound hotel managements immediately asserted that their various services were not materially handicapped.

Nevertheless, a pro-labor guest at one of these inns was not in favor of crashing the picket-line to get into and out of his Washington home. A few did it; they had to, in preference to eating at lunch stands and sleeping on park benches, but they didn't like it.

Cameras Caught 'Em

The worst of it was that candid-camera men snapped them doing their picket-line breaking. Such pictures necessarily will figure largely on next election day.

Senators Glass of Virginia and Lewis of Illinois defied the lightning. They're not particularly popular with labor anyhow. Senator Robert F. Wagner (super-laborite) snooped out and in through a poster exit and entrance of the Hotel Shoreham, without physically cutting the picket line. He had to go down to the Capitol Building and back again. Plenty of other lawmakers undoubtedly did the same thing without being spotted.

Lucky the legislator who has a home of his own in Washington or its suburbs!

By the way, Phil Murray of the United Mine Workers and Sidney Hillman of the Clothing Workers, two of the chief lieutenants of Generalissimo John L. Lewis of the CIO in the national labor strife, were guests in one of Washington's strike-bound hotels when the strike broke out. They checked out in a hurry. I don't know what refuge they hunted, but it just goes to show how miscellaneous sidestepping that strike was—all the way from ultra-capitalism to basic laborism.

No wonder it gives Washington hotels a headache.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

A Question Of Irritation

WASHINGTON, March 14. THE SPLIT which has developed among the President's close advisers in connection with the vast advertised Administration drive for business recovery is interesting and illuminating. On one side are the conservatives—some of them very recently converted—who conceived the movement and are managing it. On the other are the "intellectual liberals" of the "inner circle" fundamentally opposed to any retaliation or concessions to business. Between the two there is, at the moment, a wide gap and intense bitterness.

THE FIRST GROUP is working hard to get Mr. Roosevelt's "full co-operation." It seems strange to say that there is uncertainty of this cooperation in a movement so widely proclaimed as his own. But that is exactly the situation. Actually, there is a apprehension lest at any moment the President scuttle the whole carefully built up plan and revert to what has been his normal hostility. To avoid this the recovery sponsors think it terribly important that nothing be done to "irritate" him.

TO THIS END they privately appeal to critics of the New Deal not to use the words "business appeasement" in describing the effort. It has been further requested that if and when the appeasement advocates succeed in getting Mr. Roosevelt to endorse their tax and economy plans and acquiesce in less governmental spending, he be not "taunted" as having had to acknowledge his errors, as being in retreat or having retracted anything. If he does thus endorse and acquiesce, he undoubtedly will have done all those things. But there are whispered warnings from the cautious conservatives that if that fact is publicly stressed, it will irritate the President, and if he becomes irritated, nothing can be done with him. They literally say precisely that.

ON THE other hand, the advanced thinkers of the White House entourage, with whom the President is more personally congenial, are doing their level best to irritate him to the point of blocking the whole business-recovery program, in which they completely disbelieve. It is their view, which they earnestly communicate to Mr. Roosevelt, that the plans prepared by the Treasury group, and which he is asked to approve, involve an ignoble surrender. They are beseeching him now as they did last December when he was about to turn "right," "not to let the people down." Now, as then, that plea is very potent with Mr. Roosevelt.

IT IS being backed up by the argument that to acquiesce in or support the outright repeal of the capital-gains and undivided-surplus taxes will be to stultify himself. To lend himself now to a reduction of governmental expenses and a slowing (Continued On Page Five)

Musical Program Being Planned
For Easter Sunday At Ward Church

"The Living Lord" is the topic of the Easter Cantata selected for presentation in the Mahoning Methodist church. Vocaally talented members of the Methodist congregation will present this cantata on Easter Sunday in place of the usual evening service.

Miss Jane Kyle has been selected as director for the cantata, and she is now working with the various groups. Mrs. Alice McClure will serve as organist.

Miss Kyle today announced a special practice for the cantata group on Wednesday evening, at 6:45 o'clock, and another practice on Friday evening, at the same time.

MRS. R. M. BARNES ENTERTAINS GROUP
For their annual St. Patrick's Day party, members of the Sheehy-Miller society of the Mahoning Methodist church, gathered in the home of Mrs. R. M. Barnes, West Madison avenue, Monday evening.

Miss Pearl Dunham was co-hostess for the party, and Mrs. Helen Beam was a special guest. Devotionals were led by Mrs. O. C. Mauck and Mrs. M. R. Olmstead who is in charge of the study book.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Barnes and Miss Dunham, and they were aided by Mrs. M. C. Adams.

Next meeting will be on April 10 at the home of Mrs. Chester Johnson, West Madison avenue. Mrs. Wilbur King will be co-hostess.

DR. GUY AT HOME
Dr. F. W. Guy, North Liberty street, has returned to his home from the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he was undergoing treatment for injuries sustained in an automobile accident sometime ago.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Annual shipments of baby chicks are being handled by the Mahoning Branch Post Office, Edwin McBride, superintendent, announced today. There were several large crates of chicks in the office today.

Heavy rains of the past few days have done quite a bit of damage to driveways and hillside streets in the district. Along North Liberty street, Atlantic avenue and the West Pittsburgh roadway this damage is quite noticeable.

Did you lose your automobile license plate? There is a 1939 plate hanging on a fence along East Cherry street extension, just about half way up the hill.

There is quite a decided rise in the water in the Shenango river near Cherry street. During the week-end the water came up quite near to the new roadway built under the railroad bridge and leading to the pottery.

During the past six months there have been quite a number of new clubs formed in the Seventh Ward. Evidently everyone is club-minded in this section; either that or mighty socially inclined.

CLUB MEETING
Members of the Hard to Get Together club held a meeting Friday evening at the home of Lillian and Vivian King, North Cedar street.

Lillian Wink, a new member, was admitted to the club. Business was discussed and games played. Phyllis Ringer was awarded a prize.

A delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses, aided by their mother, Mrs. King. Next meeting will be at the home of Phyllis Ringer, Clayton street.

MISSIONARY GROUP
The Woman's Missionary society of the Mahoning Methodist church will have a meeting tonight in the church.

STANDARD BEARERS
Miss Idaegne Mitchell, North Cedar street, will be hostess to members of the Standard Bearers class Thursday evening.

the President from being irritated in order to induce him to sanction the things it believes should be done. And here is another set doing its damndest to divert him from these things by making them as irritating as possible. Altogether it is not a very pretty picture of the President presented by this competition among his friends on the subject of his irritability. It makes him appear a shallow, vain man, who has to be coddled and cajoled into adopting a course, no matter how sound, different from the one he has been pursuing. It makes him seem a man whose acts are dictated by emotion rather than reason. Looked at from a detached point of view, this struggle now going on around him does not increase confidence in the concrete results of the "recovery drive".

Dean Of Trinity
Cathedral Coming
To Trinity Church

Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Trinity church, another of the outstanding preachers in the lenten series will be heard. He is the Very Reverend Nathaniel R. High Moor, D. D., Dean of Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh. He is a public speaker of unusual ability and originality. He comes at the request of several people who remember gratefully his former visit in the lenten season. He is a graduate of Kenyon College, Gambier, O., from which he received his doctor's degree, and of Wesley Hall, the theological school of the college. Before doing Trinity Pittsburgh he was for six years rector of Grace church, Sandusky, O., and for the same period of St. Luke's church, Atlanta, Ga., the largest Episcopal church in that city.

The congregation will be led in the hymn singing by the senior choir, Miss Isabel T. Johnson at the organ. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Philip C. Pearson and will be the litany.

More Employees
Of P.U.C. Are Likely To Lose Positions

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 14.—Two hundred additional employees of the Public Utility Commission in the "lower salary brackets" today were in danger of losing their jobs, according to Commissioner Richard J. Beamish.

The cut would be in line with the demands of Gov. Arthur H. James that departments slash expenditures and effect economies.

PUC paychecks, which are due Wednesday, may not be distributed, as Governor James has not approved the commission budget for March.

Beamish said that in order for the PUC to bring expenditures within the governor's demands, it would be necessary to cut into the lower salary jobs.

That means the number of persons dropped will be greater than in the first purge, he added.

Joint Conference
For Coal Operators
And United Miners

Will Learn Demands Of Union
For New Wage Contract
With 350,000 Bituminous Miners

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 14.—Soft coal operators in the Appalachian area assembled today for a joint conference with the United Mine Workers to learn the demands of the union for a new wage contract for 350,000 bituminous miners.

As the joint wage scale conference assembled, it was unofficially reported the miners will request a pay boost of at least 50 cents a day and a shortening of the work-week from the present 35 hours to 30 hours.

The coal operators who put the finishing touches on their program at closed meetings yesterday declined to reveal their stand in advance. It was considered a strong possibility they will request a pay increase as well as a lengthening of the work-week.

Boost Basic Rate
The reported demand of the miners would boost the basic rate of pay in the northern fields from $6 to $6.50 a day and in the southern region from $5.60 to $6.10. Calculated on retention of the present 35-hour week this would amount to an increase of slightly less than 10 per cent and on a 30-hour week to slightly more than 26 per cent.

In support of their demands, the union delegates were prepared to submit statistics showing the average net earnings of miners fell $230 to $960 from 1937 to 1938.

How To Relieve Itching of Piles and Ease Rectal Irritation

If you are annoyed with the itching or rectal irritation you will be well pleased with the quick and pleasing relief the use of Ice Mint will give you. This cooling and soothing preparation quickly relieves the itching, eases pain and irritation and aids in healing the raw, sore spots. It seems the height of folly for anyone to suffer this itching annoyance when a simple remedy so easy to use, may be had at such a small cost. Ice Mint is highly recommended, and is clean and pleasant to use. Try it. Any drug store can supply you.

seven concrete structures on a 2-1-4 mile section of the new Harrisburg-Pittsburgh all-weather highway.

The section, the thirteenth to be advertised, is located between Arona and Irwin, western terminus of the highway in Western Maryland county.

Contractors proposals will be received at the Harrisburg headquarters of the commission until March 24, when they will be opened.

Approximate quantities of materials to be used in the construction include:

Excavation, 240,000 cubic yards; concrete, 2,400 cubic yards; steel, 130 tons. Concrete and steel will go into five drainage structures and two underpasses, carrying state and township rural routes over the turnpike.

Savannah Services Brought To Close

With a sermon on "The Home," by Dr. J. A. Cousins, the revival meetings conducted for the past two weeks at the Savannah M. E. church were brought to a close on Sunday night. In spite of the rainy weather, a large crowd attended. During the service, Audrey Hanna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hanna of the Third U. P. church, sang several solos, as did Mr. Wheale and Mr. Mackey of the Nazarene church.

Probe Bidding For Contracts

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A national investigation of collusive bidding for government contracts has been initiated by the treasury department.

At the same time, justice department agents were revealed today to be conducting a new inquiry into the petroleum industry as the result of anti-trust complaints.

The treasury's investigation, described by officials as being "of the widest scope," embraces a detailed examination of every bid submitted to the department's procurement in the past two years.

"This study is taking us into practically every section of the country," a treasury official reported.

Italian M. E. Board Meets On Monday

The March meeting of the Italian M. E. Sunday school board took place at the parsonage on Phillips street Monday night with Rev. P. P. Sulmonetti in charge. Reports from the departments showed progress which had been made. Mrs. Sulmonetti, N. DeLorenzo and E. Aleci were appointed to a committee which will make better arrangements for the Sunday meetings of the classes. Mrs. Sulmonetti was named to take charge of an Easter program and pageant on Easter Sunday evening.

College Alumni To Gather Friday

Members of the Lawrence County Alumni association of Westminster college will meet on Friday night, March 17, in Browne hall for the annual meeting. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and the business meeting will follow at which President Roy M. Jameson will preside.

All graduates and former students of Westminster college now residing in Lawrence county are welcome to attend. Officers will be selected and several speakers will be heard.

A hole was halved in one on the Honor Oak and Forest Hill Golf club's course in London by R. J. Derwent, a Brooklyn dentist, and J. Rankin, dental student at Guy's hospital. Two years ago a similar feat was accomplished.

STUDENT NURSES HONORED AT PARTY

An outstanding social event on the calendar of the Jameson Memorial hospital nurses was the dinner given Monday evening in The Castleton hotel by the student nurses, for the students leaving March 31 for Philadelphia to continue affiliation work. A St. Patrick's theme was carried out. The students nurses honored were Rebecca Ober, Eleanor Davis, Margaret Grundy, Bessie Gibson and Evelyn Griffin.

Speakers for the evening included: From the nursing staff, Miss Ethel Planson, chairman, Miss Dorothy Boelte, Miss Marian Lacey, from the student body, Miss Marietta Frazier, chairman, Miss Betty Wise, Miss Emma Lou Weir and Miss Cecile Turner. Appreciation was expressed by Miss Eleanor Davis, in behalf of those leaving, for the event.

Each of these girls was presented with a lovely gift from the students. Games of cards and Chinese checkers rounded out the evening's festivities.

Chest Committees Will Be Nominated

Budget, Publicity, Campaign Groups To Be Chosen; Board In Session

Three important standing committees of the New Castle Community Chest for 1939—the budget, publicity and campaign committees—will be nominated within the next few weeks by a committee headed by Dr. A. W. Shewman.

When the Community Chest board of directors met in the Y. W. C. A. last night, President Alex Samuels delegated Dr. Shewman, Paul P. Butz and James K. Love to prepare a slate for approval at the board's April session.

Samuels also appointed John A. McGrath, Johnson Bronze company executive; John J. Maher, Citizen's National Bank cashier, and L. P. Royston, Penn. Power executive, to conduct an audit of the Community Chest books. The audit is a routine action, and a report will come later.

Representatives of all Chest agencies and various civic, service and fraternal clubs attended the meeting.

Mrs. Winifred F. Cooney executive secretary made her routine report to the directors.

Troop K Has Annual Ordeal

Federal Inspection Of Local National Guard Unit Takes Place Monday Evening

Members of Troop K, 103rd Cavalry, underwent the annual Federal inspection of personnel and equipment at the armory near Cascade Park last evening and came through the ordeal with flying colors.

With the new armory practically complete, the inspection was conducted under more favorable circumstances than in past years, and the inspecting officers were pleased with the arrangements they found here.

Report of the inspection will be submitted to the Adjutant General's office later, but the inspecting officers indicated their pleasure with the condition and spirit of the men and the excellent condition of the equipment.

Complete Plans For Wednesday Rally

New Castle WPA workers will be host to the state president of the Workers' Alliance, Joseph Kres, of Harrisburg, at a public rally to-morrow evening at the I. W. O. hall, 311 Neshannock avenue. Mr. Kres will address the meeting on the subject of "An Immediate Program to save the WPA and bring Recovery to Pennsylvania."

In addition to the principal address Wednesday night, there will be brief talks by John Morris, secretary of the CIO industrial committee; Raymond Nolte, secretary of the AP of L Trades and Labor Assembly, and by a representative of the Townsend club No. 1 of New Castle. Joseph Booth, local president of the Workers' Alliance, will be chairman of the meeting. The gathering will open with musical numbers presented by the colored WPA orchestra, under the direction of H. D. Stevens, and invocation will be given by a local minister.

YOUTHS PLEAD GUILTY
Constable Frank Connors and State Motor Police arrested John Pawlak, 18, and John Woryk, 18, both of Rigby on charges of breaking into and robbing the cottage of Dr. Mary Baker, Hickory township, recently. Watches and coins were reported stolen. Both pleaded guilty before Alderman W. J. Ewing. Pawlak was held for sentence and Woryk was released under bail for court sentence.

Benes Appears Broken-Hearted

Gives Pathetic Valedictory In Bidding Farewell To Czechoslovakia

By PHILIP G. REED
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
CHICAGO, March 14.—"Yesterday I was a statesman. Today I am a professor."

With that pathetic valedictory, Eduard Benes today bade farewell to his native Czechoslovakia.

The one-time "smartest little statesman in Europe" was a broken-hearted man over the news that his country had once again been the victim in central Europe's latest territorial shakeup.

A crowd of friends and well-wishers packed the lobby of the Windermer hotel East, where he is living while a guest lecturer at the University of Chicago. But he would not, or could not, bring himself to see them.

Benes was apparently reconciled this morning to the complete breakup of the republic he had helped establish twenty years ago.

Prompt Action On Relief Request In Senate Promised
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 14.—Senate Democratic Leader Barkley promised prompt senate action on President Roosevelt's request for a $150,000,000 supplemental relief appropriation today.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that the $150,000,000 will pass the senate when it comes to us from the house and is taken up. It seems to me that the president makes clear the need for it and fulfills completely the requirements of congress in the last bill that if he found additional funds were needed he should ask for them."

It will take prompt action by both houses in order to provide the funds in time to prevent reduction of relief rolls, and I see no reason for hearings."

Coldframes should be opened on warm days and allowed to thaw out and dry out, if they are frozen.

Capt. William H. Jackson made the first photographs of Holy Cross National monument in Colorado's Rockies, 65 years ago. Recently he returned and made another set of photographs although he now is in his 96th year. He used modern equipment. The cross is made by snow-filled ravines.

CALLED TO FUNERAL
There will be no rehearsal for the play, "The Great and Last Day," in the Second Baptist church this evening because Rev. U. S. Munerlyn has been called to Crestline, O., by the death of Mrs. Mary Ralls, whose funeral is being conducted this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Munerlyn is giving the main eulogy.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY
Members of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society, of the Second Baptist church, will meet Thursday evening with Mrs. Mabel Gardner, Duquesne avenue.

RISEING STAR CLUB
A recent meeting of the Rising Star club was held in the Elm street Y. W. C. A. with Alice Taylor as hostess. Special guests were Mrs. R. Williams and Mrs. Blanch Dillard. Splendid talks about the Y. W. C. A. were given by Mary Allen, Ethel Brown, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Dillard.

The hostess served dainty refreshments, aided by Mrs. Dillard and Hazel Brown.

SUBJECT TONIGHT
Rev. J. H. Lumpkins, of Philadelphia, who is conducting a revival at the Church of God in Christ, 1123 Moravia street, will preach tonight on the subject, "Law and Grace."

Mahoning And Shenango
Valley Engineers Are Guests Of Telephone Company

LUNCH FOLLOWS
VISIT TO PLANT

Members of the Mahoning and Shenango Valley Engineers society were guests of the Bell Telephone company last evening, when Plant Manager Charles A. Bolen and District Manager Virlyn R. Caldwell played host to a large number of the members.

They were shown through the plant on South Mercer street and were deeply interested in the process of providing telephone communication from home to home and from city to city.

One of the newest developments of the Bell Telephone laboratory, the voice mirror, which records the spoken voice of the individual and then sends it back to him through an ear phone intrigued the engineers. Many of them were a little astonished to hear what their voice actually sounded like over a telephone wire, and many no doubt will be trying to improve on what nature did to them along these lines.

At the close of the inspection trip, lunch was provided in the cafeteria.

Blasts Roar Again In Abandoned Quarry

And Flocks Of Frightened Birds
Flee From 'Winter
Resort'

The 20-year quiet of the old Shenango limestone quarry was broken Monday when dynamite operations for stone for local road improvement jobs began.

It was Frank Fiore of Savannah who set off the last blast back in 1919, and it was Frank, too, who touched off the first blast yesterday. The pit had been such a quiet place that birds had adopted it as a "winter resort." Startled and frightened by the dynamite yesterday, they forsook the place in flocks.

News Oddities

Two thousand persons gathered for a community sing at West Haven, Ct. The band arrived. The musicians removed instruments from cases and the conductor waved his baton. Alas, not a sound came forth. Zero-like temperature had frozen the valves.

Immediately prior to boarding a steamer enroute to Europe, following a trip here for the first time in three years, a reporter asked W. Somerset Maugham, novelist, what new things he had found in the United States. "Everything is wrapped in cellophane and there is an increased reading of books," he replied.

Four women have been paroled as material witnesses in an investigation at Camden, N. J., that members of a jury panel, while waiting jury assignments, played the numbers.

Do you wear a tilted hat? In New York city, a count shows that of 600 men, 54 percent were hats tilted to the right, 16 percent tilted to the left and 30 percent wore them straight.

Bergen county, N. J., Junior college is again normal because sneeze gas manufactured in the chemical department routed a skunk from beneath a porch. Two professors placed a small portion of the chemical, diphenyl chloroarsine, under the porch. Students fled to advantageous positions. The skunk emerged sneezing.

Little Mountain, N. C., has a hen that, like a crow, nest. J. A. Stoumdre saw one of his hens take to wing, climb up a tree, limb by limb, then settle in a crow's nest. An examination showed the eggs in the nest belonged to the hen.

Passers-by in Everett, Mass., stopped to encourage two men trying to open a locked auto. Finally someone suggested the men break the small ventilation window. The men did, removed several leather cases and strolled away. A few minutes later, Howard Wright, Waltham, Mass., a jewelry salesman, emerged from a restaurant, went to his car and found games worth $5,000, had been stolen.

Boy Scouts May Camp At World's Fair In New York

Camp Of Scouts Located On Fair Grounds Open To 150 Each Week

Any qualified member of the Boy Scouts of America may apply for an opportunity to take part in a unique demonstration and service camp at the New York World's Fair, Dr. James E. West, chief Scout executive of the national council, announced.

The camp, to be located immediately adjacent to the Federal building, will accommodate four troops of 32 Scouts and four leaders. Each site will be equipped with tents of various colors and designs. There will be a large tent for displays of Scout, including woodcraft, handicraft and campcraft.

According to the national Scout office, the local Scout councils have application blanks and can provide further detailed information, including costs, for the trip.

To be eligible to participate in this World's Fair camp a Scout must have been an active member of the Boy Scouts of America since May 1, 1938, must have had satisfactory camping experience and be able to take care of himself in the open. He must be in good health and present a medical certification of physical fitness and successful smallpox vaccination.

Amusement Tax May Be Revived

Governor James Intimates
State May Be Forced To Revive Some Taxes

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, March 14.—Gov. Arthur H. James intimated during his press conference Monday he may be forced to resort to new taxes to obtain needed state revenue.

Pressed for an opinion on the proposed bill of Rep. Edwin Winner, R. Montgomery, to levy a tax on amusements, the governor revealed that the administration has considered advisability of reviving the amusement tax imposed in 1935-37 during the Earle administration.

"We've talked it over generally," commented Governor James. "As it stands now, you don't know what taxes you might need. That amusement tax might be the tax you might want to put on later. Just now I thought perhaps we might better leave matters alone."

"If the relief situation continues serious and if there is no upward trend in business, it may be necessary later to pass tax bills."

Governor James said he was gratified to learn that the state's relief load for the week ended March 4 showed a decline for the first time in 15 weeks.

It was recalled that the amusement tax was passed during the 1935 session but permitted to lapse in 1937.

New Protest Is Sent To Japan

U. S. Protests Imposition Of Currency Restrictions In North China

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 14.—The United States has made a vigorous new protest to Japan over imposition of currency restrictions in north China, acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles said Monday.

The action was taken by American Ambassador Joseph B. Grew at Tokyo on instructions from the state department.

Welles said that the currency restrictions violate rights guaranteed the United States under the Nine-Power Pact and constituted discrimination against American trade interests in North China to the preference of Japanese trade interests.

Welles said the protest reiterated the position set forth by the American government in its note of Oct. 6, in which the whole question of treaty violations, discriminations against United States interests and attempts by Japan to close the "open door" in China were set forth.

Three Girls To Receive Eaglet

High Awards Will Be Given Friday Night At Girl Scout Rally

EXPECT CROWD AT SENIOR HI SCHOOL

The Golden Eaglet award, an honor greatly coveted by Girl Scouts, will be presented to three New Castle girls, Helene Edgar, Mary Louise Meehan, and Wilda Stewart, Friday evening, March 17, at a city-wide rally to be held in the Senior High School.

Preceding this impressive ceremony, open to the public, to which all those interested in the Girl Scout movement are cordially invited, a dramatization of scouting in New Castle will be presented by representatives from each of the scout troops. In addition to 500 New Castle Scouts and their leaders, parents, heads of prominent clubs, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby, commissioner, members of the Girl Scout Council, and Miss Helen MacLean, local director, will be present.

High points in the dramatization include a review of the 349 merit badges earned during the past year by the scouts, 49 second class awards, and 4 first class awards, also the organization of new troops to provide more city-wide coverage, with 26 Scout troops, 2 Brownie Packs, and 2 Senior Scout troops.

During the 11 years since the Girl Scout movement was launched in New Castle, the rank of Golden Eaglet has only been conferred upon 10 girls up to 1938. The past winter, two more scouts were so honored, Eileen Waite and Frances Mae Loy. With the three additional on Friday evening, the honor roll will number 13.

Popular Young Women

Helene, Mary Louise, and Wilda are daughters respectively of Prothonotary and Mrs. John A. Edgar of Sheridan avenue, Howard P. Meehan and the late Mrs. Meehan of North Crawford avenue, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Stewart of Highland avenue. The young women are well and popularly known in the community where their outstanding ability is recognized.

Miss Edgar is an honor student at Senior High where she is active in many school clubs. She is Consul Primus of the Senatus Romanus group, a member of the Girl Reserve cabinet, and the Order of Rainbow for Girls. Her scout training was received in Troop 8 and Senior troop 2, the latter now under the leadership of Miss Mary Louden and Miss MacLean.

Miss Meehan was graduated from the Senior High school with the January class of 1939. She was the recipient of the English award given by The New Castle News upon recommendation by the English department. She is one of the younger musicians in the city, a talented pianist, member of the Music club. She is a Senior Scout in Troop 1 of which Miss Helen Hurst is leader. Former training was received in Troop 6.

Miss Stewart is also an outstanding Senior High student. She is in the High School band and carries a membership in the Junior Garden club. She was formerly in Troop 8, and is now in Senior troop 2, with Miss MacLean.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FEW DISFIGUREMENTS THAT CANNOT BE AIDED BY SURGERY

In addition to better results, perhaps the chief reason for operating on a child to correct some visible abnormality is psychological. If you correct the deformity before he is acutely aware of it, he will then avoid that feeling of shame and humiliation which so often lead to a feeling of inferiority which may dog him all his life.

Unfortunately, children who are a little different from the others attract a great deal of attention from their playmates. Children make no attempt to conceal their curiosity, and they seldom refrain from calling attention to the deformity in public. They never seem to understand that what they say is hurting the deformed child's feelings. Without intention, I am sure, a child will shun a deformed playmate and force him into an inferior position from which he sometimes never recovers. Very often, too, a deformed child will be given a nickname that refers directly to the deformity, giving a good deal of prominence to this superior attitude on the part of playmates.

It is little wonder that the child develops a strong feeling of inferiority. Probably this mental factor develops much earlier than we realize. Personally I recall two children of two years old, both of whom had bare hips. One would manipulate the hip while looking at it in a mirror. The other would hide his head in a pillow when a strange person came into the room. Is there any doubt that both these babies knew there was something wrong, that they looked different from other children?

Fortunately, however, although this attitude of shame may be present at an early age, it doesn't become really serious until the child enters school. Then he realizes the full force of the fact that he is different from other children. As he develops, his sensitiveness to his affliction is likely to increase, and by the time he reaches adolescence, he not only has a pessimistic, despairing outlook on life in general, but he has developed many peculiar traits of personality that are very apparent in his reactions toward his playmates.

Accidental injuries to the face lead the list of acquired deformities. Sometimes an injury at birth will leave a child with a wry neck. Oil and cinder particles or other dirt left in a facial wound will show later as disfiguring tattoo marks. The physician who attends the injured child can prevent such marks. Even the simplest brush burns should be carefully scrubbed with soap and water and a soft brush, the patient being kept under anesthetic. Embedded cinders or particles of dirt should be plucked out one by one.

When a deformity of any type is present in a child, no matter if it be only a trifling one, the most important single measure is the soonest possible and most complete surgical restoration. It is particularly important that the deformity be corrected before the child enters school, for this is the age of greatest mental and social reaction to deformity. I give this advice because there are very few conditions where at least partial restoration cannot be made during the first five years of the child's life.

BESSEMER

ROTARY CLUB

The Rotary club of Bessemer will hold their regular meeting in the basement of the Bessemer Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening at 6 when a speaker will be present.

GOOD WILL BIBLE CLASS

The Good Will Bible class will hold their postponed meeting of last week on Tuesday evening, March 14, at 8 in the home of Miss Margaret Carlson of Overlook Lane with Miss June Shoup and Miss Ada Smith as the associate hostesses.

SARA ENGLE BIBLE CLASS

The Sara Engle Bible class will hold their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kurler of Stewart avenue, on Friday evening, March 17, at 8, with Mrs. Donald King, Mrs. Lawrence Stanley and Mrs. Joseph Martin as the associate hostesses.

DOUBLE ENGAGEMENT

The Wynona Auxiliary of the Westminster Guild gathered at the home of Miss Alexandra Poushey on Thursday evening and held their regular meeting and social time with Mrs. Oliver Engle and Miss Dorothy Engle as the associate hosesses. The social entertainment in charge of Miss Mary Nord and Mrs. Alene Sheet, carried out the St. Patrick's Day caricatures. The members were warned to close their eyes until everyone in the room has been served their refreshments and to the great surprise the trays were decorated with a cascade of sweet peas and a nuptial favor bearing the announcement of two engagements, being Miss Dorothy Engle to Lester Nord in May, 1939, the other Miss Alexandra Poushey to Walter Charles Dobritz, June, 1939. After a period of gestation the refreshments were much enjoyed. The members returned to their respective homes to reconvene on April 13 with Gladys Griffin, Sue Carlson and Margaret Carlson as the hostesses.

SWEDISH MISSION CHURCH NOTES

The Junior league meeting of the church will be held at 6:30 on Wednesday evening at 8; the young people service will be held when the young people from the Presbyterian church will be the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Toke Mackey and son from New Castle will also be present, and sing. Mr. Mackey will present the message of the evening.

Friday evening at 8, Rev. C. E. Backstrom, pastor of the First Covenant church of Youngstown will be in charge of a service, after which the communion service will be held.

LENTEN SERVICE

On Tuesday evening at 7:30 the members of the St. Anthony church will hold a Lenten sermon with their pastor, Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Young, in charge. On Saturday evening at 7:30 the Stations of the Cross will be held.

Social Security Payroll Taxes Are Assailed

Congress Committee Told That Small Business Men Are Driven Out Of Business

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Social security payroll taxes are driving small business men out of business, the House Ways and Means committee was told at a hearing Monday.

The witness, T. J. Priestly, Jr., of Philadelphia, a member of the National Small Business Men's association, urged new tax methods in the social security act.

He asserted that under the present system, when a big corporation with labor saving devices gets more production per man than a small employer, the social security tax bears heavier on the small business man.

An assertion by Priestly that the government "is stealing from the small business man" brought a sharp protest from acting chairman Cooper (D) of Tennessee. Cooper retorted "the government isn't stealing from anybody."

Priestly, a printer, urged substitution of a graduated gross business tax for the present system of corporation taxation. He assailed the new deal program, charging that experimental laws are driving business to the wall.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

"Doc" Slifer, an old-time pitcher, tells me that there won't be much doing in his line in and around New York's World's Fair. He doesn't think the Fair management is treating the pitchers fairly, especially with the various restrictions on just what kind of a "pitch" they can make. But he has several other reasons for feeling a bit gloomy. One is that people don't respond to the lure of the "shillers" and "cappers" the way they used to do.

"Everybody is getting too smart, these days," said "Doc" Slifer. "There just aren't any more real rubes. My first workout in this business was on the Midway Plaisance in the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. There were farmers around there by the thousands, with whiskers and celluloid collars—when they wore a collar at all—who looked just like the pictures in 'Puck' and 'Judge'."

"You could keep on taking them all day long with them liking it and coming back for more. But that's all over and done with now. Everybody is wised up and you can scarcely tell the big town slicker from the yap—in fact, there aren't any more yaps. I guess we're through," said "Doc", plaintively.

"And then there's another thing. You take the run of these World's Fair exhibits, scientific gadgets and all that, and they make a better show than anything we could put on. What's a two-headed calf compared with a television show, for instance? We've had a good line of wonders and marvels and miracles, some of them on the level, but the general run of progress makes a lot of our stuff look foolish. I suppose that's one thing this Fair is celebrating, but it makes us the goat. I guess we just stayed too long."

An enthusiastic reader of the "Pipes of the Pitchmen", in Billboard Magazine for many years (a literature sin generis), I was somewhat cast down by the "Doc's" gloomy forebodings. Aren't we going to have a good time at this Fair? Will the highbrows and the mezzobrows overlay it so heavily with deep and purposeful significance that only a Harvard Ph. D. can enjoy it? Can't we have our usual dash of delirium, with a batch of youngsters reveling in the traditional dare devility of chute-ing and the chutes and what not?

A preview of the Fair is reassuring. It will be City of Tomorrow but there will be just enough of pleasantly remembered honkytonk to save us from nostalgia. There is a splendid amusement section, notably different in one respect from previous Fairs in one most important detail. They're cracking down on dirt. New York City has been acquiring a good reputation for sophisticated entertainment, minus smut, for the last few years, and the Fair will carry on from there.

Over a considerable time, this is a measure of national as well as regional advance. At the New York World's Fair, anything like Jack's theatre, which flourished at the first Chicago Fair, would bring a riot call with the first turn on the boards. Amusement zones in the past have thrived on offside exhibits. That's out at this Fair. And I guess we can thank Mr. Grover Whalen for it. He's that kind of fellow—clean as a hound's tooth.

When you stop to think about it, a one-headed calf is just about as much of a marvel as a two-headed calf. That seems to be the take-off on this New York World's Fair, in its truly magnificent round-up of science, techniques, arts, crafts, machines, skills and all the high endeavour of civilized living, to project us into the City of Tomorrow and the World of Tomorrow.

Deviations from the normal, such as the pitchers' freaks, make news, but a bold and a triumphant advance of the normal, in the conquest of the material world, makes much more important news and that is what our Fair achieves in its splendid realizing of the scientific advance of the last decade.

Some persons think we got a bear by the tail when we geared our society to the machine. True or false, there's no turning back, and the first and most obvious deduction from this is that our continued advance depends on the stimulation of new desires. Modern economy is based on that premise. Great expositions, such as this, stir in millions of persons a desire for a higher standard of living as they see new ease, grace, dignity, beauty and comfort in living portrayed in countless exhibits.

The Fair prods the country to live up to its heritage and to create a still richer heritage. Unless there is this continual stimulus, the machine is merely a job-killer. Utilized as our Fair will show us how to utilize it, we find a rising standard of living—new desires and their satisfaction—eventually ending unemployment and stagnation and putting lagard capital to work. That is the road ahead straight into the City of Tomorrow—and like the white towers of Camelot, it is a city of faith and aspiration.

FIREMEN TO VISIT GROUP AT FAIRVIEW

Headed by President James E. Thomas, of the Northern Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, a group of local firemen will go to Fairview, Pa., near Erie, for a meeting this evening of firemen from the upper section of the district.

Engineers recently discovered a plume of spray had disappeared from the center of the Canadian Horseshoe Falls. They concluded that a big new rock slide had occurred on Niagara.

Daily School For Employees Of New Steam Power Plant

Instruct Men In Plant Operation

Preparations Under Way For Opening Of Penna. Power Company Plant

OPERATING STAFF BEING TRAINED

Every day there is school at the Pennsylvania Power Company's new plant at West Pittsburg. Each morning the men who have been selected for the operating staff of the plant meet to study and discuss the problems which they may meet after the new plant is in operation.

John Mikels, chief engineer, is ordinarily in charge of the class, but others from time to time take charge, to explain and lead the discussion on certain features. Occasionally manufacturers' representatives conduct the class to explain the construction and operation of their particular product, which is included in the plant equipment.

The fireman or engineer in a plant such as this has a far different type of job than in an old-time plant where most of the time was spent shoveling coal by hand or oiling machinery with an oil can. Coal will be fed into the boiler in a powdered state and all factors in combustion will be automatically controlled—the amount of coal fed to the boiler, the speed of the fans, the water feeding into the boiler tubes—all these things will be controlled by very delicate but accurate instruments.

The fireman at the new plant has no coal to handle, but he must have a thorough knowledge of the operation of every piece of equipment connected with the boiler. He is on the job primarily to guard against trouble and to correct trouble when it does arise.

The engineers and other workmen in the plant are in much the same position, and it is for this reason that the school is being held every day. The students are all experienced in power plant operation, but the new plant represents the most modern trends in steam power plant practice and every feature of the plant is being thoroughly studied and learned before a pound of steam is generated or a single kilowatt-hour turned out.

ADVERTISING MAN

TAKEN BY DEATH

(International News Service) NEW YORK, March 14.—Death today had ended the brilliant advertising career of Barron G. Collier whose many companies controlled virtually all the advertising on trolley and subway lines in this country and several others.

Collier had extensive real estate interests in Florida also. A native of Memphis, Tenn., and a self-made man, he died at the age of 66 of heart disease.

Movie Caravan Will Visit 'Boot's Hill' Town

By MILTON HARKER

(Copyright, 1939, by International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, March 14.—Eddie Foy, Jr., will be among the scores of notables to go to Dodge City, Kan., April 1 for the world premiere of Warners' $2,000,000 movie, "Dodge City," and there's a good story behind the visit.

It happens that a way back in the 1880's a huge mob of Dodge City cowboys one night threatened to lynch his father, the late Eddie Foy, because they didn't like his wise cracks at a performance. Probably they were only playing a joke on Foy, but at any rate they took him out under a tree and put a rope around his neck. Afterwards they let him go. All through his life the elder Foy regarded the incident as the most unpleasant of his long theatrical career.

Foy was playing a floor show at a cafe called "The Lady Gay" when the wild westerners of that day took umbrage at his performance. It was one of the first floor shows ever given in the country.

Planning the big excursion to Dodge City, Warners figured it would add to the celebration if Eddie, Jr., went along. He thought it a good idea himself so he'll accompany Errol Flynn, Olivia De Havilland, Victor Jory, Ann Sheridan and a host of others on a special train.

The whole affair, counting the trains, is expected to set the Warner brothers back at least $150,000.

This elaborate premiere will be Hollywood's second in a week.

Twentieth Century-Fox is sending a special train to San Francisco for the first showing of "Alexander Graham Bell" at the Golden Gate International Exposition on March 29.

Hollywood likes these events to boom pictures. The first one of importance was held last summer when Warners sent planes and trains to little Weaverville, Calif., for "Valley of the Giants."

There has been talk that Paramount might promote a similar venture for the premiere of "Union Pacific" at Omaha, Neb., but the studio probably will just send a few stars along.

Crane Wilbur, actor, writer, producer and director, is as busy as a bee again in Hollywood. This time it's directing. At the moment the picture is "Quiet, Please."

A good many of you will remember Wilbur best because he played with Pearl White in "The Perils of Pauline," one of the most famous and lucrative of screen serials, past, present or future.

Crane laughs when anyone speaks of him as a screen veteran. "As a matter of fact," he says, "I spent only three or four years on the screen and more than 25 years on the stage."

His first stage appearance was in 1904. He went into movies first because he wanted to play rugged western types. Only they curled his hair and made him look very pretty indeed. As a matter of fact, Wilbur is still one of Hollywood's finest looking men.

Naval Committee Asks Hull For More Information

Would Like Information On All Existing Treaties Between Japan And United States

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Dissatisfied with the state department's reply to its inquiry relating to Japan's observance of its treaties with the United States, the Senate Naval Affairs Committee today sent a second letter to Secretary of State Hull asking for more information.

The first request inquired whether Japan has observed the bi-lateral U. S.-Japanese treaty of Feb. 11, 1922, providing that Japan will not fortify its mandated islands in the Pacific. The department reply advised simply that so far as this government knows Japan has not fortified the mandated islands.

After studying the letter, committee members decided they would like to have a report giving all available information on existing treaties between this country and Japan, and on the latter's observance of such pacts.

Firemen Surprise
Boy's Group In Shed

Firemen, stationed at the Croton department, saw flames shooting forth from the roof of a shed, at the rear of the Jordan property, on Croton avenue, early Sunday evening. The firemen immediately set out with the fire extinguisher, and soon had the fire under control. A number of boys were within the shed, when the firemen arrived, unaware of the fire, but they soon scattered.

Buy Planes From Five Countries

French Have Purchased Air Machines From Different Nations

ORDER THOUSAND IN UNITED STATES

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS—Intermingled with reports that President Roosevelt personally aided France in obtaining the latest American military airplanes, it was officially learned today that France has gone to no less than five countries in her frantic efforts to produce an air force able to stand against fascism.

The aviation editor of the powerful newspaper "L'Intransigeant" published a strong article recently reporting that only through the personal intervention of President Roosevelt in France's behalf was his country able to buy the modernized Douglas B-19 and Martin 167 bombers.

The efforts of President Roosevelt, and of the French military Aeronautical mission in the United States, the editor added, eliminated any middleman transactions and speeded the entire proceedings.

Types Already Released

However, the editor would not elaborate on his story when pressed by this correspondent. Both the Martin and Douglas bombers, and the Curtiss P-36 pursuit planes which France has ordered, are the latest types but have also been released for export by the "automatic laws." Intervention by President Roosevelt therefore would not be necessary.

While it is definitely known that the French air purchases in the United States will total 1,000 planes before all orders cease, the government has announced officially that 635 estimated at a cost of $60,000,000 are already being constructed for French squadrons.

The planes comprise: Pursuit, 200 Curtiss P-36's; Attack-Trainers, 200 North American BT-9's similar to those sold to the British.

Dive-Bombers, 20 Chance-Vought for the new French aircraft carrier Bearn.

Bombardment, 115 Martin 167's and 100 Douglas B-19's.

Purchases Elsewhere

Meanwhile, Holland, Britain, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia have had orders from the French Air Ministry as it tries to rapidly build up its air force to its former powerful position. These orders are:

Holland: 50 Koolhoven FK58 pursuit planes for colonial stations.

Britain: 460 Rolls Royce Merlin engines of better than 1,000 horsepower to be used in new French-built pursuit planes and bombers.

A French factory will also manufacture these motors under license. Switzerland: an undesignated monthly quota of Hispano-Suiza motors (12-Y) of 890 to 1,000 horsepower for French pursuit planes.

Czechoslovakia: from the Skoda works, an undesignated number monthly of the same motor ordered from Switzerland, and from the Walters works, an undesignated number of Gnome Rhone motors (built under license each month).

Assault Case On Trial At Court

Due to the selection of the jury to try Angeline Maravola for murder in court room number one of the Lawrence County court house, trials did not start before Judge Thomas W. Dickey in court room number two until mid afternoon on Monday.

The first case brought up, which continues today, is that of aggravated assault and battery against Vitaliano Fusco, the charge being brought by Ros Tommelio. The plaintiff alleges that on November 18, 1937, Fusco assaulted him with a knife and cut him on the knee. The wound became infected and Tommelio was in the hospital for over seven months, he avers.

HARRISBURG, March 14.—The cares of office are beginning to weigh upon Gov. Arthur H. James

... two months in office have given governor James, more used to the quiet of the superior court bench than to the hectic cares of a state capitol, a taste of what his predecessor faced ... being a governor today is a weightier matter than it was during the pre-war era.

But while his work has piled up on him and his cares have increased, one thing has not changed, and that is governor James' comradely spirit ... as much as possible he leads in his public life the same routine he did before he became governor ... he eats in the basement restaurant at the capitol when he is in a hurry to return to his office, he still wears his old hat, he still greets his old friends with the same easy familiarity they knew before he became the state's chief executive ... of governor James it can truly be said that his office has not gone to his head ... although there may be disagreement among many as to his policies, there can be none as to his Democratic spirit ... that has remained unchanged.

ministration officials noticed that the jurors were meeting in jury room 13 ... when the indictments were handed down it was found that 13 persons had been indicted.

The senate elections committee investigation into the status of Democratic Senator Herbert S. Levin of Philadelphia who was forced to "stand aside" pending a report on his election contest with former Senator Samuel W. Salus will probably be a closed affair ... Sen. Louis H. Farrell, R. Philadelphia, chairman of the elections committee, said both men would be asked to appear before the body ... "separately," said Senator Farrell.

The floor of the state senate is now barred to all excepting senators, employees, newsmen and holders of passes ... all others must avail themselves of the gallery if they wish to watch senate proceedings, two passes are allotted to each senator.

A bill to codify, amend and revise the penal code of Pennsylvania has been introduced in the house of Representatives Frank J. Atkins, R. Armstrong, and Charles H. Brummer, Jr., R. Montgomery ... it is a stupendous volume, covering 357 pages, and is reported to have cost $1,000 to print ... if reported out of committee with as much as one single word changed it will have to be entirely reprinted.

Once again a human life is at stake in the Lawrence County court house. A man was killed, a girl admitted the shooting and this week a jury of twelve citizens will decide whether or not she pays a penalty for her act or goes free.

As usual the court room is filled with spectators. Apparently believing that testimony would start on Monday a crowd gathered. Instead they sat on the hard benches all day listening to a routine examination of jurors.

Thirteen jurors were unavailable for service out of the panel of 80 drawn for service for the week. Those excused, either for illness, absence, death or business reasons included the following: William G. Ayers, salesman, 1st ward; Dennis E. Cain, clerk, Ellwood City; Caroline Dodds, housekeeper, Ellwood City; Coulter Hullett, draughtsman, Ellwood City; Paul McConahy, laborer, 3rd ward; Margaret McGregor, housekeeper, Wayne township; Lewis Pitts, farmer, North Beaver township; James Peckles, retired, Scott township; Kathryn Shilton, housekeeper, second ward; Joseph Vargo, mill worker, Ellport; Eugene Walker, laborer, 7th ward; Charles Wetmore, clerk, 1st ward; Joseph Wilkoffsky, manager, Ellwood City.

One commission as notary public has been registered in the office of the Register and Recorder, the one being Roy C. Miller.

Changes of registration increased in the week past. Forty five Democrats hopped over to the Republican party, 26 new voters registered Republican and 3 registered as Democrats. Since the first of the year 690 have changed from Democrat to Republican.

In the office of the Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts the following actions have been placed for action in the June term of court:

Johnson Bronze Company against the Alford Transfer Company, an action to recover $112.57 damages incurred while the truck of the defendant was leaving the plant of the plaintiff. The accident occurred on August 3, 1937, it is alleged, the defendant's truck sideswiping a wall and damaging window sash and walls to the amount claimed.

Jennie Phillips and William Phillips her husband claim $7500 damages from Ralph McQuiston for injuries and damages incurred on December 3, 1938 when it is alleged the defendant's car struck the car of Ralph Phillips on the Wilmington road. The action avers the night was dark and it was raining, and that the defendant was driving in a reckless manner. Another action out of the same accident is filed with Ralph Phillips claiming $295 damages to his car.

A transcript is filed from the office of Alderman W. J. Ewing who gave judgment of $32.75 to the American Trouser company against Tom Alansky. The transcript says the defendant offered $25 in full payment which was refused. The judgment is appealed.

Beatrice Alveda Dean of New Castle asks a divorce from her husband Robert Earl Dean, claiming indignities to person. They were married March 12, 1932.

Dorothy B. Fishovitz of New Castle asks a divorce from her husband Peter Foshovitz claiming desertion. They were married July 9, 1934. The action is brought by the plaintiff's next friend and father, Robert E. Newton.

AROUND CITY HALL

Several permits sanctioning construction here were issued by Neil Williams, building bureau clerk, during the past several days. He issued one to W. F. Zehner company for the building of a residence and garage at 2112 Delaware avenue. The structures will be frame buildings, the residence to cost $250 and the garage, $250. Other permits were issued to John Davis, 717 County Line street; $100 worth of repairs to a garage; Ralph C. Mattox 1222 Huron avenue for repairs worth $100 to a porch and J. H. Humble, 1904 Hamilton street, for the construction of a coop worth $80.00.

Pittsburgh has launched an anti-jay walking campaign. It will last several days, following which persons who violate traffic laws may be requested to face punishment the same as automobilists who violate traffic regulations. It has been some time since efforts were made here to curb jay-walking. White safety cars at one time occupied corners and violators of safety first were warned through a loud speaker's system of the danger of what was considered best for their own safety. With spring high and auto traffic bound to increase it may not be a bad idea to start an educational campaign to prevent jay-walking here.

Workers alliance of this city Monday invited members of council to attend a meeting in the I. W. O. Hall, Nesheamock avenue, Wednesday night when President Kress of the state organization will speak. The invitation was presented by Ray McHenry, who said Kress would speak on what can be done to help save as many now on WPA from going on relief because of a proposed cut in WPA funds.

City Solicitor William D. Cobau reported to council Monday that he cannot recommend payment of damages to Miss Kate Smith, 202 North Beaver street, for injuries reportedly sustained when she fell at the Comfort Station, Water street. She had presented a bill to the city council for $39.34, expended for treatment.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Man's faith in magic is oft-times tragic. Superstitions encourage costly delay in treatment.

Will a carrot hung in the basement cure jaundice?

Or a wooden sock around the neck cure tonsillitis?

Some say a buckeye in the pocket will ward off rheumatism.

Others insist red hangings in a room will cure malpox.

A knotted string buried is believed to drive away warts.

Amber beads were said to remove a goitre.

What is the basis for these silly, childish beliefs?

Is it to take the mind away from actual symptoms?

Or an attempt to transfer the troubles to something else?

Modern, scientific medicine is fact—not fancy.

Chick Brooder Sets Home Afire

Home Near Cascade Park Takes Fire From Brooder In Attic Monday Afternoon

Several hundred baby chicks had a narrow escape from being asphyxiated by smoke, when fire started in the attic of the home of John Widelko on Cass street, opposite the entrance to Cascade park on East Washington street, Monday afternoon at 2:30, when inflammable material placed near a brooder house which sheltered the chicks in the attic caught fire.

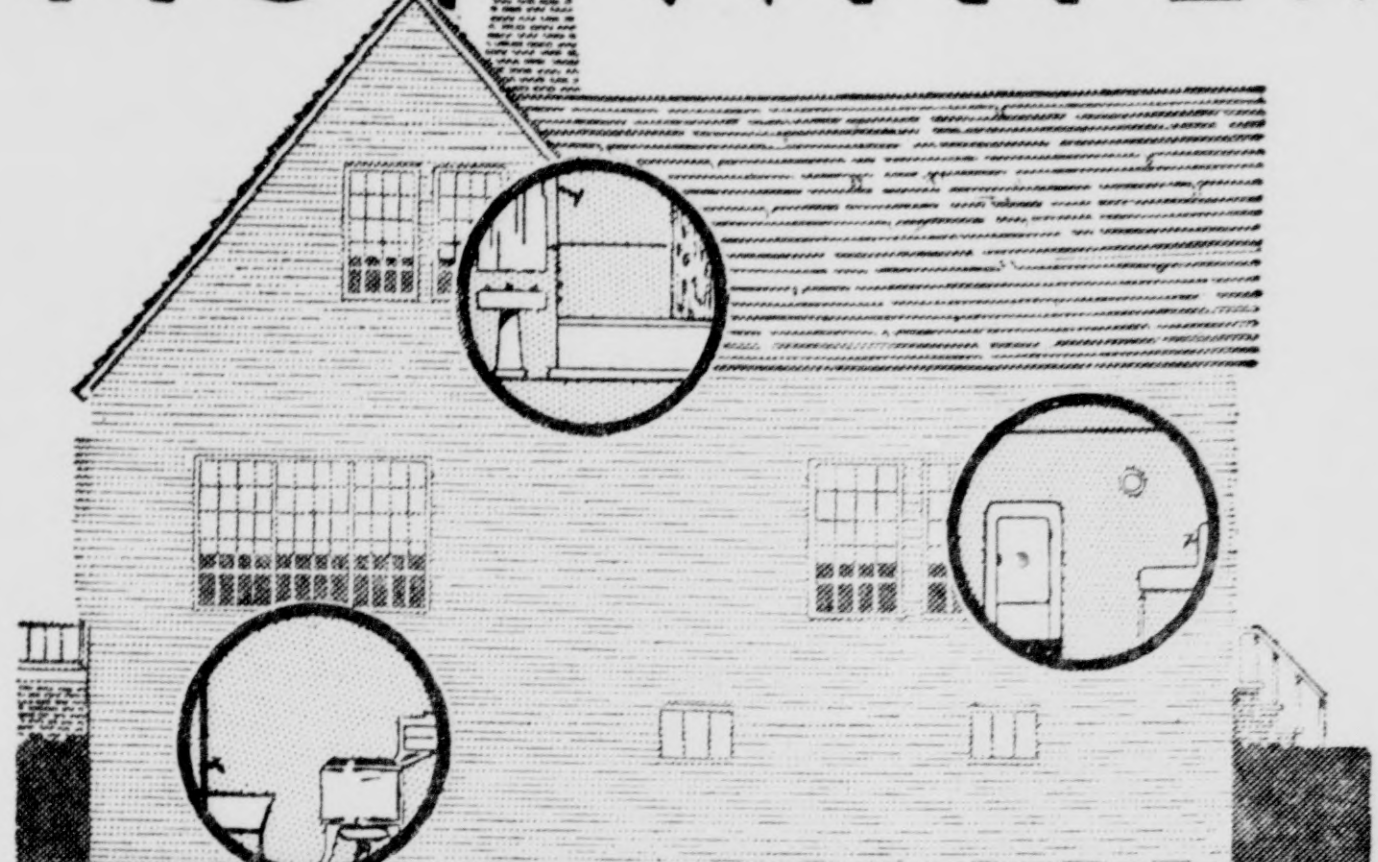

No. 4 and B truck companies responded to a call for assistance, aiding Shenango township firemen, who were on the scene with a small hand extinguisher. The loss was small.

Given Sentence To Penitentiary

Changing his plea from not guilty to guilty, Clifford Rowland, charged with statutory rape was sentenced by Judge Thomas W. Dickey on Monday afternoon to pay a fine of $1 and costs and undergo imprisonment in the western penitentiary in Pittsburgh for not less than two nor more than four years.

Says Electric Lighting Only In Its Infancy

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, March 14.—American homes of the future will stress electric lighting to kill germs, preserve food and harmonize with ones personality, according to S. G. Hibbens, Westinghouse company director.

"Thus far, we have used electrification in the home as a substitute for sunlight," Hibbens asserted, "merely to see what we are doing." But the lighting field, he said, is merely in its infancy.

"Bactericidal lamps will move into the home to keep down germs there," he declared. "They can be installed over kitchen sinks, in bathroom cabinets, concealed in radiators and air-conditioning machinery and in cellars.

"Homes of the future," envisioned Hibbens, "will have three electrical circuits—one to furnish present types of work lights, one to provide for utilities such as radio washing machines, and the third for pure decoration. Possibilities for the artistically-minded housewife are limitless," the lighting engineer said.

DON'T let common constipation rob you of vitality and vigor! When bowels don't work right, the trouble often lies in what you eat; you don't get enough "bulk." Such common foods as meat, white bread, potatoes are so completely consumed in the body that they fail to supply the bulky mass that helps normal bowel movement. So eat crisp, crunchy Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for breakfast. This wholesome, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk"-forming properties you may need. Eat it with milk or cream every day, drink plenty of water, and see what a difference "regular" habits can make in your life. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

NEW WILMINGTON BIDS FOR CAGE TITLE TONIGHT

Babe, Benny Win Battles At Ellwood

O'Brien Captures Decision From Nick Retardo In Three Rounds

KURTZ AND ARKETT WIN THEIR BOUTS

ELLWOOD RESULTS
Babe Retardo, Ellwood City, decided Billy Sweeney, Pittsburgh, flyweight class, three rounds.
Joey Varoz, Monaca, decided Moon Robertson, Ellwood City, featherweight class, three rounds.
Steve Kowalik, McKeesport, decided Ernie Pelai, Monaca, welterweight class, three rounds.
Benny Bartle, Ellwood City, decided Vic Ferrand, Pittsburgh, light heavyweight class, three rounds.
Muddy Kurtz, McKees Rocks, decided Halbert Brooks, New Castle, junior welterweight class, three rounds.
Woody Sweeney, Pittsburgh, decided Billy Murray, Belleair, featherweight class, three rounds.
Regis O'Brien, McKeesport, decided Nick Retardo, Ellwood City, lightweight class, three rounds.
Joe McKenna, Pittsburgh, decided Frankie Ott, Follansbee, bantamweight class, three rounds.

One thousand spectators attended a boxing show for the benefit of the Hospital Orthopedic Appliance fund in the Lincoln high school gymnasium, Ellwood City, last night. While there was one national champion, one divisional title and one state crown holder on the calendar, the Four-Star battles were the Babe Retardo vs. Billy Sweeney and Benny Bartle vs. Vic Ferrand clashes, the Babe and Benny capturing the decisions.

The Babe and Billy, both flyweights, scuffled here and there, throwing leather minus the usual clinches, in the opening chapter and followed this method throughout the remaining two rounds. They provided an example for the other flyweights on the card and it was a pleasing battle with all three rounds going to Retardo.

Moon Robertson launched a two-fisted attack on Joey Varoz, who was handled by Teddy Varoz, former middleweight champion, in the first round. Emmett Rocco, colored second to Moon, kept his cheerful change firing to the body and midriff. Suddenly Moon was dropped to a knee but arose without a count. Varoz's reach was too long and Moon made the error of trying to reach Varoz's jaw too much. He took a belting in the last two rounds and lost.

Steve Kowalik and Ernie Pelai fought a rough battle in which swings predominated. Both tried hard to land a knockout but no serious damage was occasioned by the haymakers, not because they did not land steam but because none of them landed on a vulnerable point. Not so long since Steve dropped a decision to Pelai and last night evened the score when the judges presented him with the verdict. Mike Wukas entered the ring weighing five pounds less than Chuck Arkett. Arkett dropped Mike in the second but Wukas arose without taking a count. Wukas came back strong and won the third round. However, Arkett was aggressive, and landed the most damaging punches in the first two rounds, and was given the decision.

The second of the Four-Star came as soon as the bell sent Benny Bartle against Vic Ferrand. The latter had a big weight advantage. Benny did the most spectacular fighting in the first round, showing to good advantage with a two-fisted stomach attack that drove Vic against the ropes.

Bartle was out in front in the second stanza when a glove string came loose and the fight was halted until it was stopped. Bartle resumed the aggressive role and piled up points at long range. Ferrand scored heavily with an uppercut just before the bell to weary Bartle, but Bartle was given the round.

The third round was a rough-and-tumble affair with vicious fighting. Vic backed Benny against the ropes. Suddenly the Ellwood City boy tumbled out of the ring between the ropes. Bartle crawled back into the ring and outscored Vic in the punching to capture the award.

As stated a week ago by the writer, Halbert Brooks of this city, did not prove a match for Muddy Kurtz, the clown-fighter. Brooks hit Muddy only four times in the three rounds. From a circus angle it was a laughable affair but, from a pugilistic viewpoint, Brooks alias "Dancing Feet," didn't compare with Kurtz, who can fight when he cares to fight.

Woody Sweeney, A. M. A. divisional featherweight champion of the Amateur Athletic Union, was too tall and rangy and knew too much about scientific boxing for Billy Murray. There was plenty of fast stepping. In punching Sweeney hit more accurately. He raised a lump beneath Murray's left eye in the third and concluding round and got the decision.

Nick Retardo pegged Regis O'Brien several hard blows to the head in the opening round. Regis called upon feet, hands and cunning to turn the trick in the latter rounds. He encircled Retardo, jabbed off balance and scored often enough to capture the second round by a shade.

Regis forced Retardo to miss in the third. He shot a good right to the stomach. Regis jabbed Retardo back to the ropes. Both delivered blows to the head. O'Brien outboxed Retardo when, suddenly, Nick caught Regis with a right to the side of the head. The blow was hard and staggered the McKeesport lad. O'Brien put a left to the head. Nick retaliated and then O'Brien shot a right to the stomach at the bell. Regis got the award.

Joe McKenna, who claims the national A. U. U. bantamweight championship, entered against Frankie Ott, West Virginia state champion, wearing a patch above an eye. Ott was shorter in height and had less reach than Joe, who scored at will. Ott failed to land any severe punches. McKenna was given the decision.

Tom McMahon, New Castle, was the third man for the first four bouts. Sam Leyshock was the referee for the last five bouts. The judges were Joe Dougherty and Doc Keppen; timekeepers, Tom Newman and Rudy Kellner. Don Gardner was the announcer. The show was arranged by Joe Latiano and Merritt Book. B. P. O. E. lodge 1356, sponsored the affair.

Golf League To Be Re-Organized

New Castle Golf League Members Will Meet At Sylvan Heights Next Week

Re-organization of the New Castle Golf League, the pioneer organization of its kind in Western Pennsylvania, will take place at a meeting called for next Tuesday evening, March 21, in the club house at Sylvan Heights course.

President Abe Jackson states that there will be election of officers and a discussion of plans for the coming season. Several new teams are seeking franchises in the league and teams which have comprised the league in the past and seek membership must have a representative at this meeting, he states.

With the approach of golfing weather, interest in the league is increasing and another good season is looked forward to.

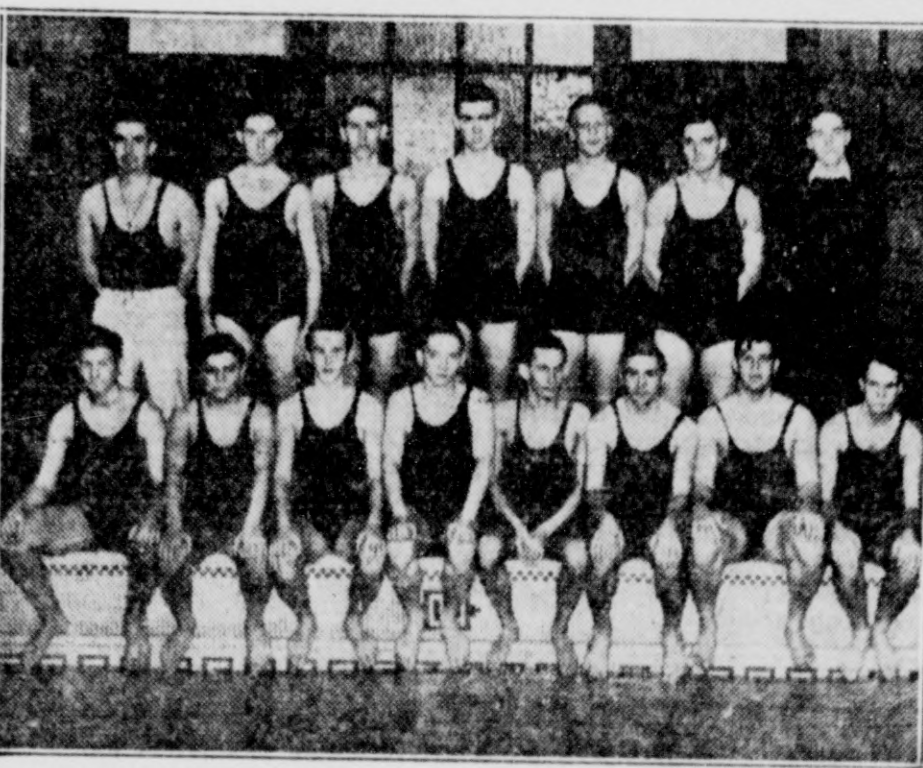

Lawrence Loop Meets Wednesday

There will be held in the Sport Goods store, at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, a meeting of officials and managers of teams in the Lawrence County Baseball League. The proposed Tri-County loop will be aired and consideration given to any sponsors who wish to place a team in the loop this year.

Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators predicts (conservatively) his team stands a good chance of finishing in the first division.

Gersons-Keystones And N. Y. A. Winners In Tourney Games

Gersons Put Gus' Big Five Out Of Tourney 27 To 23; Keystones Wallop Madisons

N. Y. A. HAS TOUGH TIME IN WINNING

The Gersons, defending champions of the City-County basketball tourney served notice last night in administering a sound lacing to Gus' Big Five that they will have to be reckoned with this year when the chips go down in the final game Friday night. The score of the feature battle on the card was 27 to 23.

Kulick-Mumford Stars
The Jewelers went into the lead at the very outset of the game and ran the count to 5 to 0 before the Gus' team could score. At the first period the Gersons led 7 to 2, and at the half it was 15 to 8. The third period closed 20 to 10. Mike Kulick, coach of the Gersons played a great game, getting ten of the points for his team. Dal Mumford and Paul Small also played fine basketball.

For the Gus' team the work of Elmer Wainio was by far the best, with Kennedy and O'Brien doing a lot of nice work when they had a chance.

In the first game on the card the Franklin Ex-High Stars threw an awful scare into the highly publicized N. Y. A. team and the boys really made a fight out of it. At the first period it was 4-4, and at the half 14 to 8. The third period ended 23 to 16, and the final was 31 to 19. "Carroll" Ross was the big point getter for the losers with Toscano and Sammy Deep best for the N. Y. A. quintet.

Keystones Top Madisons
The Keystone A. C. had a walk-away with the Madison A. C. team in the second game, the Keys under Coach Andy Venditto playing a smooth brand of basketball and had accurate shooting eyes, piling in 29 field goals, with Gus Strausbaugh having 19 of the points himself, and "Blackie" Nocera helping himself to 14 points, while "Handsome" Sammy Bullano piled in 11 points. For the losers the playing of Dick Thompson, Throop and Lateano was by far the best. The score of this game was 64 to 26. At the half it read 26 to 11 in favor of the Keystones.

Moran To Box Monday Night

Several Former Members Of Panthers Boxing Team Coming

Frankie Moran of this city will make his return to the ring next Monday night in The Arena against Ray Mooney, runner-up for the featherweight title in the Sun-Telegraph Diamond Belt boxing tournament conducted recently in Pittsburgh.

Another hot scrap arranged will be staged by Ernie Pelai of Monaca and Mickie Walec, former member of the boxing team at the University City, last night.

Johnny Wargo, also a former University of Pitt boxing team star, and one who is well known throughout the state, will fight Chuck Arkett who defeated Mike Wukas in Ellwood City, last night.

Four other bouts have been staged. The show is sponsored by the West Side Tigers to earn receipts for their baseball uniforms. The Jefferson A. C. will promote the show.

City Umpires To Meet Wednesday
There will be an important meeting and election of new officers for the City Umpires' Association, it was announced by President Don Costello today. The meeting place will be the Tigers club rooms on Home street at 8 o'clock.

President Costello would like to have the following members of the association report at the meeting: "Red" Keller, Cackey Gennock, Joe Helen Uram and Mildred Dewberry. Manager Joe Factor announced today that on Friday night at George Washington floor as a preliminary in the City-County championship game, that the Factor girls will play the Struthers, O. girls, Eastern Ohio champions.

JUNIOR LEAGUE GAME
The First U. P. team handed the Central Presbyterians a 34 to 10 defeat last night at the "Y" in a Junior Church league battle. It was reported today by Henry MacNicholas.

PLAY IN BUTLER
Dragons will play Butler in Butler tonight in a roller skating game. Twelve players will make the trip from this city.

Local sports fodder Lawrence county's scholastic basketball season ends tonight with New Wilmington bidding for the Class B toga of the W. P. I. A. L. Frank "Tarzan" Crisel, aside from being one of the mainstays on the Western Reserve gridiron machine, is a talented actor. The powerful tackle has a role in "Night Between the Rivers". A. G. Capezutti, grid pilot of Bessemer high is interested in booking two sets for October 20 and November 17. The Cement City eleven has been experiencing difficulty in booking this, due to its impressive record during the past couple of seasons. It would be interesting to see the Bessemerites tackle a couple of those Pittsburgh outfits which have been awarded the Class B title.

In one of the "bean-shops" along the main stem yesterday, an unusually interesting sports topic was aired. "How would Joe Louis fare against some of the former champions?" Deputy Boxing Commissioner B. J. Riondi, who has witnessed scores and scores of battles, believes that Jack Johnson, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney and Gene Roth would have solved the Brown Bomber's style. About Johnson, Riondi said "One of Johnson's uppers would have ripped Louis' head. Tunney would have cut him to ribbons and Dempsey was rugged enough to take a few punches from Louis and then return a couple of his." The popular boxing man said, John Bonfield, one of the most talented musicians, picked Tunney, Dempsey and still maintain that Schmeling can lick the champ. Robert Sherman, another sports lover selected Gene Tunney and also picked the former marine as the smartest mittman in the history of boxing. Despite the fact that the arguments are futile since everyone of the setos, save a Schmeling-Louis meeting are impossibilities, the comparisons between Louis and crown holders of yesteryears, are generally made whenever boxing is discussed.

FACTORS LOSE AT WARREN
The Factor Variety girls basketball team traveled to Warren last night and lost to the "Hello Girls" of the Telephone company by the score of 28 to 20. Miss Sis Johnson made 16 of the Warren points. Best for the locals was the playing of Helen Uram and Mildred Dewberry. Manager Joe Factor announced today that on Friday night at George Washington floor as a preliminary in the City-County championship game, that the Factor girls will play the Struthers, O. girls, Eastern Ohio champions.

LOCALS CONFIDENT
The local "Greyhounds" were confident of coping the title as they boarded automobiles enroute to the battle scene. Coach John Eagleson pronounced his proteges in "tip-top" shape. Asked what he thought about the outcome of the game, he said: "If my boys have an on-night, we'll win. There is always a chance for an off-night. Monaca must be good, otherwise it would not be in the finals."

Lanky Paul Minner and Captain Jack Mercer, New Wilmington's scoring wizards, will be watched closely. Monaca has built a defense to halt the "Greyhound" point makers. The work of Minner and Mercer, coupled with the passing of Newton and Shaffer, carried the locals into the finals. "Casey" Sharp, the fifth member of this "juggernaut" will comprise the starting lineup. New Wilmington staged two workouts on the valley court and looked impressive.

Monaca won their section the hard way, a play-off round with Midland. Then the "Mons" spilled McDonald and disposed of Bridgewater in the semi-finals. New Wilmington will have to watch Phil Predo, central figure on the Monaca club. His scoring ability, together with stellar defensive work, has been mainly responsible for the showing of the Beaver Valley team. Varoz, Linkovich, Busang and Tarmina comprises one of the smoothest clicking class B machines in many years.

Expect Big Gallery
Because a pair of neighboring counties are represented in the final clash, one of the biggest galleries to ever gather for a schoolboy clash on the Beaver Falls court is expected. More than 2,000 followers will cheer the schoolboys, it was announced.

The lineup:
New Wilmington Monaca
Newton F Predo
Minner F Varoz
Mercer C Linkovich
Sharp G Busang
Shaffer G Tarmina

be reminded by the "ump" that he forgot to touch first base by at least a yard, thus nullifying his hit. The Reds won 5-0, the Dodgers getting no hits-no runs, and several misplays. The two Philly teams posted some kind of a mark Sunday. The Phils got five errors while their home town friends, the A's, also misused five times. "Ducky" Medwick is worth $200,000 to the Cards. Any time they want to let loose of a slugger, the Dodgers will fork over that much money. When Jack Doyle, Broadway price maker, prepares to make out his record during the past couple of seasons, it would be interesting to see the Bessemerites tackle a couple of those Pittsburgh outfits which have been awarded the Class B title.

First Game Starts At 7:15

night Enter Quarter Finals

Basketball fans of New Castle and especially those who have followed the second annual city-wide tournament through so far will recognize that tonight there are three more fast games booked to end the second round of tournament play. The first game will start at 7:15 o'clock.

In the opening battle tonight the Castle Five, managed by Paul Eagan, will play the New Castle Saxons and the Saxons are sure to fly. In the first round the Castle Five bounced the Knights of Columbus out of the tournament and hope to do the same thing tonight to the Saxons. However, the Saxons blasted the lines of the New Castle Trojans in the first round and will fight hard to stay in the tournament.

Well Known Players

The lines of both teams will be dotted with stars such as Mike Covelli, Chief of the Union high team, Jap Covelli and Duddy Perz of the Penn Power team, the Pitzer brothers of Shenango high fame and Frederick. The Saxons will have the Binder brothers, Snyder, Shuster, Lang and Greaf in the lineup.

The Bessemer Indies, having disposed of the Trades Assembly team in the first round, will meet the fast New Castle Indies team, conqueror of East Brook, in the second game on the program tonight and this should also be a humdinger of a contest. The Bessemer boys, led by that grand little black-haired Henry Marshall, showed a lot of fight the last time out and will be hard to beat tonight. The Indies' best bet will be Santangelo and if Bessemer stops this youngster, they will stop the Indies team.

Ralph Cenname is another boy who will bear watching by Bessemer, so will Alfieri, but they are not in a class with Santangelo. The Bessemer boys outside of Marshall have the DeArment brothers and Nick Calderaro, a fine ball player, together with Manager Bill Glass.

Falcons vs. St. Nicks

Worth the price of admission (15 cents) alone will be the Polish Falcons and St. Nicholas clash in the third and final battle on the card. These two teams are friendly rivals and will fight hard to oust each other from the tournament.

The lineups of both teams have stars of basketball renown in New Castle, former New Castle high luminaries. With the St. Nicks will be Luther Rowe, Ray Bombyk, Chinkie Dutkin and the Teplica brothers, Johnny Uram, all Phil Bredenbaugh proteges. They have played together for quite some time and have a smooth combination.

Coach Henry Koszala harbors a secret desire to win this tournament and knows that his team faces a tough barrier tonight. The St. Nicks will not be pushovers for anybody. The Falcons walloped the Plaingrove Indies in the first round and figure to have a battle on their hands with the St. Nicks.

Lester "Bus" Reiber is signed up with the Falcons, but whether or not he will play tonight is not known. There will be the familiar faces of Eddie "Cash" Koszala, "Flash" Wenda, "Muzzy" Snizek, "Big Scoop" Tyllinski, Gabby Kendrick and Henry Koszala as the Falcons trot out on the floor.

Committee Working Hard

The committee staging the tournament with Tony Conn as general chairman, is hard at work to make the benefit tournament a big success. The proceeds will go into the New Castle Music Council to help the three junior highs here in New Castle with band instruments, band stands, music racks, music and all forms of necessities other than uniforms. It is hoped that a goodly sum can be turned over to the council at the end of the tournament.

Officials Named Today

Sid Lockley, member of the City County floor tournament committee to announce that the games to be played in the tournament will be handled by Austin Cowmeadow, Bill Wallace and Jack Mottinger.

Two Games Wednesday

There will be two semi-final games on Wednesday night at Washington court in the City-County tournament. The Keystone A. C. meeting the winner of the Bessemer Indies-New Castle Indies game tonight, in one game, and in the other the N. Y. A. team will play the Gerson team.

Rabbit Trapping Program Proves Success In State

Over 11,000 Cottontails Have Been Trapped And Liherated In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 14.—An extensive rabbit trapping program undertaken by the Game commission is producing "encouraging results," notwithstanding adverse trapping weather this winter, according to Seth Gordon, executive director of that body. Director Gordon reported that as of February 1, approximately 11,000 cottontails had been captured in various counties of the state on areas where hunting was forbidden and released on open shooting grounds.

While the majority of the animals were taken from city parks and waterways, private estates and on state-owned lands surrounding public institutions, Gordon said many were removed from the commission's new natural rabbit propagating areas. A number of these areas have been established throughout the state on an experimental basis, he asserted, but the commission hopes to establish a great many more as time permits.

"The live rabbit trapping program is just another step forward in Pennsylvania's progress," said Gordon, "for maintaining a constant cottontail supply for the gunners each year, influenced to a great extent by the fact that sooner or later it will be impossible to purchase any rabbits from western states."

"If we are going to be forced to shift for ourselves, we might as well start doing it now," he concluded.

St. Pauls Win From Seniors

The St. Paul's Lutheran church team won the "Y" Seniors last night at the "Y" floor in a House basketball battle 41 to 32, with the St. Pauls always in the lead. Scoring stars were G. Binder, Lang, Gibson and McLure.

Ministers Plan Special Service For Good Friday

Continuous Union Service To Be Held From 12 To 3 P.
M. In Lutheran Church

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—When members of the Ellwood City Ministerial Association held their March business session on Monday morning at 10:15 a. m. in the First Presbyterian church, they made initial arrangements for a special three hour service to be held on Good Friday.

The service, to be continuous, will be held from 12 to 3 p. m. in the Trinity Lutheran church and will be a union service of all the Ellwood and district churches. The seven sayings of the cross will be given by the local ministers and will be featured from time to time. Rev. F. T. Daubenspeck and Rev. J. E. Pringle will arrange the service in detail.

Opening devotions were led by Rev. A. M. Doak, and the program hour featured a summary on Dr. William F. Russell's much discussed paper, "Divided We Fall." Dr. Russell is affiliated with Columbus University.

On Monday morning, April 10, the next service will be held.

C. A. Miller Is Appointed Fire Assistant

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—At the March meeting of the Ellport Borough Council held last night, Charles A. Miller was appointed as assistant of the Bureau of Fire Protection in this district.

Suitable progress in the improvement of State and First streets by W.P.A. projects was reported. Routine matters occupied the rest of the meeting.

Wurtemberg WCTU Plans Poster Contest

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—On Monday evening, members of the Wurtemberg W. C. T. U. were entertained in a hospitable manner for their March meeting by Mrs. Emil Boos, at her home, in Wurtemberg. Twelve members and one guest, Mrs. William Steffler, participated.

Mrs. W. S. Worcester led the devotional period which was followed by a temperance program. The annual essay and poster contest is being planned in the Wurtemberg schools and the evening of the judging a medal contest will be held. The affair will likely be held during the middle part of April.

Wurtemberg will join the Ellwood City union in an institute to be held in April. On behalf of the union, Mrs. Eva Fox has written a letter of commendation to the National Broadcasting Company for their stand in refusing liquor advertising.

In serving a nicely appointed lunch, the hostess was aided by her daughters, Mary and Barbara. The April meeting will be held on Monday, the tenth, at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Hamill, of Wurtemberg.

Industries Seek To Locate Here

Chamber Of Commerce Committee Reports Inquiries Are Being Received

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—The Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce have received six inquiries in the past four days from small concerns who would like to locate in Ellwood City. Some of these concerns employ 10 to 12 persons while two definitely stated they would employ as high as 50 to 60.

The Chamber Industrial Committee will meet in a few days to consider the needs of each concern as to floor space and financial needs. Chamber Secretary Denny Schill stated that for two years it has been hard to even receive inquiries from stock raising concerns, but the industrial inquiries are coming in better than in 1937.

It is the policy of the Chamber to carefully look into each industrial inquiry whether it be large or small and it is hoped to land at least one or two of the six concerns interested in locating here.

Sons Of Legion Enjoy Pictures Of Scenic Views

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—E. C. Ifft, Beaver county chairman of Sons of Legion and Russell McDanel of the New Brighton squadron, were visitors at the semi-monthly meeting of the Sons of Legion held last night in the Legion hall in Sixth street. They gave interesting talks on the organization and its objectives.

J. A. Grandey, of this city, gave a J. A. Grandey of this city, gave a fine report of the Sons of Legion round-up held recently in New Castle.

Thirty-eight members and eight visitors took part in the evening's activities which featured a series of moving pictures showing outstanding scenic views in this state. Charles Rabberman showed the pictures.

Monday evening, March 27, the next meeting will be held.

Methodist Class At Nicholl Home

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Last evening members of the Altruistic class of the First Methodist church were entertained in a pleasing manner for their March meeting by Mrs. John Nicholl at her home, in Pittsburgh Circle.

Mrs. Goldie Grossman led the worship service. During the meeting plans were made to hold a twelve dinner at the church on Tuesday evening, March 28, with the following committee, Mrs. June Watterson, Mrs. Elva Hazen and Miss Margaret Lusher to be in charge. Miss Martha Hayden resigned as class secretary and Mrs. Violet Morrow was selected to fill the vacancy.

The fourteen members attending enjoyed a period of diverting games after which the hostess was aided in serving a dainty repast by Mrs. Hazen.

Tuesday evening, April 11, marks the date of the next meeting.

MRS. CLIFFORD HALL IS CHARMING HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Mrs. Clifford Hall was a charming hostess to members of the Bridgette club on Monday evening at her home on Wayne avenue for the bi-weekly session.

Cards at two tables pleasantly occupied the hours with the award for top score going to Miss Eleanor Kimes, who aided the hostess in serving a refreshing repast.

For the next meeting on Monday evening, March 27, Miss Grace Hartung will entertain at her home on Second street.

CHINA RELIEF FUND

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—No regular meeting of the China Relief committee was held on Monday afternoon but those having money for the fund are asked to leave it with J. J. McLaughlin at the Community Savings & Loan company or at the home of Rev. A. M. Stevenson in Pittsburgh. The money will be sent to the national office early next week.

TO BUILD BASEMENT

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—To provide adequate space for the increasing membership, plans for the construction of a basement underneath the Lilyville Church of God were formulated by church officials at a congregational meeting held last evening at the church.

Estimates will be taken and the work started this week.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Admitted: Joan DeAndre, Franklin avenue. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hughes, of Park avenue, a daughter, this morning.

Margaret Pugh Class Dinner Is Most Enjoyable

Plans Made To Provide Refreshments For Boys Recreation Room On Saturday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Beautiful St. Patrick's Day appointments featured a dinner meeting of the Margaret Pugh class of the First Presbyterian church held last evening in the church dining room.

Green carnations and white sweet peas formed a lovely centerpiece with other decorations adding beauty to the setting. Nineteen members partook of the delectable meal served by a committee.

All of the present officers have been re-elected for the new year and were in charge last evening. It was agreed to furnish refreshments for the boys recreation room in the near future and to purchase Bibles for the class room. Definite plans are going forward for the presentation of a play in the early fall.

Hostesses for the April meeting on Monday evening, the tenth, will be Mrs. Ruby Swanson, Mrs. Louise Morrison, Mrs. Miriam Rolman, Mrs. Pauline Saunders and Mrs. Elizabeth Mattocks.

Jewish Council Members Received

Discussion Of Present And Proposed Legislation Features
Program Hour

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Mrs. Leonard Silverblatt and Mrs. Louis Garson, hospitably entertained the members of Ellwood City council of Jewish Women on Monday evening for the March meeting at the former's home, in Wayne avenue.

During the meeting, Mrs. Mazer and Mrs. A. Solomon were appointed as a nominating committee. The program concerned present and proposed legislation with Mrs. Max Rhinehart and Mrs. Abe Greensburg leading the discussion.

Money for the China relief fund was collected. On Wednesday, March 22, members of the council will have charge of the weekly civic club broadcast at 4:15 p. m. and arrangements were completed for the program which will be in charge of Mrs. Greensburg and Mrs. Edward Keller.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses. For the next meeting on Tuesday, April 11, Mrs. Ben Baker will be hostess at her home in Glen avenue. Book reviews will feature the program.

Rebekah Lodge Has Nomination

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—A nomination of officers featured the semi-monthly meeting of the Lady Rebekah Lodge held Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the First National bank building. Forty-five members participated in the activities of the evening.

A successful bingo and 500 party followed the meeting and awards went to Mrs. Ralph Cross, Mrs. N. J. Gordon, William Kay and Charles Fry, in cards, and Mrs. Ethel Callahan and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer for bingo. To conclude the affair appetizing refreshments were served by Mrs. William Travis and her committee.

The semi-annual election of officers will be held at the next meeting on Monday evening, March 27. Another card party will also be held at that time.

MARY POLLOCK CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—The March meeting of the Mary Pollock class of the Wurtemberg Methodist church will be held on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. H. F. Pollock of Wurtemberg. The place of meeting was erroneously announced in Monday's paper.

PROVIDENCE CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Mrs. and Mrs. Keith Hazen, of Frisco, will be hosts to members of the Young People's class of the Providence Baptist church on Thursday night in the church basement. An election of officers is planned.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Duncan, of First avenue, motored to the B. W. Grove home, in Glassport, on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. White have returned to their home in Williamsfield, O., after being called here by the death of Kenneth McConahy.

Mrs. Ira P. West, who recently underwent an operation at the local hospital has recovered sufficiently to be removed to her home, in First avenue.

Local friends and relatives of Mrs. Maude Scott of Middle Lancaster were sorry to learn that she has been removed to the Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh, for observation. Mrs. Scott has not been well for many months and underwent an operation at that institution sometime ago.

Doak Funeral On Thursday

Last Rites For Dr. I. G. Doak,
Former Ellwood Resident,
At Porter Mortuary

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Dr. I. G. Doak, age 57, former resident of Ellwood City, passed away Sunday morning at 8:15 in the Altoona hospital at Altoona, Pa.

Dr. Doak came to Ellwood from Parkersburg, W. Va., about 1901 and resided here until 1919. Since then he had practiced chiropractic in Altoona.

He was a member of the Baptist church in Altoona, where he was the assistant superintendent of the school department of the Sunday Bible class and of the Men's B. I. Hiram lodge, F. & A. M. of Altoona.

He is survived by his wife, Elsie Miller Doak of Altoona; one daughter, Mrs. C. S. Raugh of Pittsburgh; one sister, Mrs. Lyle McDanel of Ellwood City, and two brothers, A. R. Doak of Hamilton, Ohio, and C. M. Doak of Ellwood City. His father, W. J. Doak, preceded him in death last April.

His body will be brought to the W. D. Porter funeral home late Wednesday afternoon and friends will be admitted after 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Services will be conducted by Rev. B. J. Osterhouse of the Baptist church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral home. Burial will be made in Locust Grove cemetery.

Local Auxiliary Plans Card Party

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—When members of the Firemen's Auxiliary gathered last evening in the Sixth street Firemen's Hall for their bi-weekly session, they completed plans for a card and bingo party for members and friends to follow their next session on Monday evening, March 27.

Mrs. Edna King conducted the meeting and arrangements were made to attend the monthly meeting of the Western Pennsylvania Auxiliary to be held on Friday evening at Cranston.

Cards and bingo provided the evening's diversion with the awards of the weekly civic club broadcast at 4:15 p. m. and arrangements were completed for the program which will be in charge of Mrs. Greensburg and Mrs. Edward Keller.

Mrs. Orpha King's Father Buried Today

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Funeral services were held this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the late home in Glassport for B. W. Grove, aged 84 years, who passed away on Saturday afternoon at his home following an illness of pneumonia.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Orpha King of First avenue, this city, and a son, Dalton Grove of New Castle. He is also survived by the following children: Mrs. Blanche Palmer of Philadelphia; Mrs. Dolly Kaylor Ringgold; Mrs. Myrtle Mercer and Mrs. Maude Heath of McKeesport; Harry Grove and Mrs. Nora Baird of Glassport. His wife preceded him in death some years ago.

RELATIVE OF LOCAL PEOPLE IS SUMMONED

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Many local relatives will be sorry to learn of an announcement of the death of John Ward, who passed away several days ago, at his home, in Palisade, Neb.

Mr. Ward is a nephew of Mrs. Delilah Kingston, of Knox and a son of the late Frank Ward, formerly of Wayne Twp. He lived here for many years and has many friends who will join in his bereavement.

Dorcas Class Plans Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Mrs. Clarence Fox was a charming hostess to members of the Dorcas class of the First Baptist church on Monday evening at her home on Line avenue. Thirteen members participated in the evening's activities.

Mrs. Laverna Mosley conducted the meeting with plans being made to hold the April meeting on Monday evening, the tenth, in the form of a three dinner at the church. Mrs. Iva Bell Murphy will be hostess at that time.

After an informal social hour, Miss Ethel Fox aided in serving a nicely appointed lunch.

Darlington Couple Married On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Miss Thelma Leach and Vernon Cox, both of Darlington, Pa., were united in marriage on Monday evening by Rev. J. R. Routledge, pastor of the Providence Baptist church, of North Sewickley, at the manse.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCowan, of Darlington, and other intimate friends witnessing the ceremony were Miss Elaine Bangs, Miss Bertha Berstler, Albert Cox and Dale McCowan, all of Darlington.

The bride was most attractive in an ensemble of lime crepe with harmonizing accessories and she wore a corsage of sweet peas and roses. The single ring ceremony was used.

Sunrise Services Will Be Held In Methodist Church

Young People's Council Of Ellwood Churches Meets In Trinity Lutheran Church

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—With 30 members in attendance, the Young People's Council of the Ellwood City churches held their March meeting last evening in the Trinity Lutheran church. Edward Cable, president, was in charge.

Rev. T. H. Carson, pastor of the First Methodist church, was received into the council with the Young People's Council hand clasp and Rev. Milton A. May was given the handshake for being the most faithful member among the preachers.

Announcement was made of the annual week of Easter sunrise services to be held in the First Methodist church, Walter Eilen, Norbert Rossman, Raymond Leffer, Esther Young, Betty Klindienst and Julia McDanel were appointed as a committee to select game books to be presented to each society.

There will be a hobby show in the First Methodist church on April 14 and 15. Members of the council are invited to attend services at the Bi-Memorial church this month. No social is planned for this month.

During the social hour, Miss Helen Fleischer and Miss Betty Klindienst served a delicious lunch.

The next meeting will be held in the First Christian church on Monday, April 10.

Providence Guild Selects Officers

Mrs. Howard Syphrit Pleasantly
Entertains Mission Group
On Monday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Twenty members and one guest Mrs. Charles Hook, of the W. W. Guild of the Providence Baptist church of North Sewickley were entertained in a gracious manner for their March meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Syphrit of Rockdale.

Mrs. Jane Cox led the devotional service and an article from the mission magazine was given by Mrs. William Fleeson.

An election of officers featured the evening and resulted: President, Miss Vesta Householder; vice president, Mrs. Madge Fleeson; secretary, Mrs. Clara Hazen; assistant, Miss Eva Summers; membership treasurer, Mrs. Myrtle Mercer

Sportsmen Clubs from all around this district are planning on attending the Annual Lawrence County Sportsman Banquet on March 30th. Are you coming?

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESEALL

If a group of people want to be successful at a given task . . . they must have an organization to guide them . . . an organization that is run on a sound basis. One that is run in a slip shod manner will not succeed. Certain objects must be set up and these objects kept in mind by the members. When committees are made they should carry out their task to the best of their ability. The officers of the organization should take their station seriously enough to do their utmost in keeping the good-will of the members. The treasurer especially has a job that is very important. When he is called on to report . . . the very unpopular thing for him to do is to get up and say "The treasury is in good condition", sit down and that is all that is to be said. You have no doubt had this experience, and you know what the members have said that was sitting around you. A sufficient number of meetings should be held to take care of and make the club worthwhile. The dues should not exceed the budget of the members but should be enough to take care of little incidental items that come up from time to time. We are in no way referring to any one organization or group in the above out-line but it has been suggested that these general remarks be made.

A fellow can certainly enjoy life at home if he has something to occupy his mind. Some enjoy reading and others must be busy with their mind. It really should be, that the home carry the main attractions . . . not a night club or men's club. A man who does not enjoy staying home nights and thinks that he must be out with so called society is losing the most valuable part of his life. Of course no one should tell another what he should do with his spare time. We are not attempting in any manner to do this . . . but merely pointing out that the life blood of America was made through the strong home ties. We were mainly a homey type of peoples . . . and when a country loses that it loses a valuable asset.

THE GUMPS—ON TIME

OH ANDY—ANDY—WHY DID EVER LET YOU MAKE THAT WILD WAGER?

IT'S ONE MINUTE TO SIX, GENTLEMEN—I'VE CERTAIN SOMETHING DREADFUL HAS HAPPENED TO HIM—PLEASE—PLEASE DO SOMETHING!

NOW, MRS. GUMPS, DON'T YOU WORRY.

WHAT'S THAT COMOTION OUTSIDE?

JUST AS THE CLOCK STARTS TO CHIME THE FATEFUL MESSAGE THAT THE SIX O'CLOCK DEADLINE HAS ARRIVED—THE DOOR BURSTS OPEN---

THE SITUATION GROWS TENSE—ALL EYES ARE ON THE CLOCK—ANDY HAS EXACTLY ELEVEN MINUTES TO PUT IN HIS APPEARANCE

COULD YOU?

Firmer Tone In Stock Market

Price Changes Are Extremely Small In Transactions During Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 14.—The stock market developed a firmer tone today, after a modest extension of the two preceding days' decline at the opening. Price changes were extremely small and trading continued at a sluggish pace.

The market was generally soft at the opening, although a few representative issues were above previous closing levels. In the second hour the list began to move upward, and before noon plus signs were in the majority.

Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, American Smelting, Texas Corp., Goodyear and General Electric were among the pivotal stocks to convert initial losses into fractional gains. U. S. Steel, Youngstown, Westinghouse, N. Y. Central, Air Reduction and American Tobacco "B" were higher from the start.

Union Pacific wiped out an extreme loss of a point. Sears Roebuck, International Nickel, United Aircraft and Consolidated Edison were among the shares to hold behind minor signs.

"Miss 10th Avenue"

Sixteen-year-old Florence Farley, of New York's tenement district, is known to her neighbors as "Miss Tenth Avenue" since stealing the Tenth Avenue "Debbie Show" staged by the Boy's Athletic League. It just goes to prove that the gem-laden debutantes of society's 400 have no monopoly on beauty, personality and glamour.

Claims World Milk Record For $5,000, 2-Gallon Goat

By Central Press
BEVERLY, MASS.—Greatest milk-producer in the world on a weight-for-weight basis is the claim advanced by Walter Tindley, Beverly, Mass., farmer, for his prize goat, T. X. Marine's Jonquil, with which he is pictured.

In nine months, Jonquil has given 1,966 pounds of milk, more than twenty times her own weight. Not even championship cows can approach that feat, boasts the proud owner.

Valued by Tindley at $5,000, the goat produces two gallons at one milking.

Goat's milk, according to medical authorities, is an ideal food, more easily digestible than cow's milk and rich in proteins that rebuild body tissues, and mineral salts that maintain biochemical balance in the body.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—WHY HANG AROUND?

Police Have Display Of Dangerous Weapons; Taken From Prisoners

In possession of Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell at police headquarters are a number of dangerous weapons, each of which was either found at a murder or suicide scene, or taken from prisoners when arrested.

Included among the curios is a model of the wooden revolver used by Indiana's bad boy, John Dillinger, who went the "G-man route," which means he was shot to death for his criminal acts.

Shortly after Dillinger used the wooden gun to escape from an Indiana prison, a local man manufactured a replica. It is of wood, painted black and the wood barrel revolves.

The size of the bullet holes in the cylinder would be for a .44-caliber bullet. The barrel is long, and one not knowing it to be wooden would quiver were it in the hands of a gunman and pointed at a victim. It was presented to Criswell and is kept in the gun case, which is always locked. The gun case is kept in the private office of the police chief. Other weapons are kept in the chief's large safe.

Another interesting weapon is a revolver which according to a woman's story to the chief was once the weapon of a northwestern mounted policeman who witnessed plenty of exciting action in Canada.

It is of English manufacture, calibre .320, No. 91. The revolver is said to have been one of the issue given the northwestern mounted police. Police here took it from a person last fall.

Another revolver is of German make. It is a Dreyse 10-shot automatic. The chief took time to explain the mechanism of the revolver, which also was taken from a person placed under arrest.

He also displayed hypodermic needles which were found on a prisoner, and also some marijuana, which when smoked causes persons to become insane and commit horrible crimes.

Two police clubs, owned by the late city detective, C. G. Logan, are also kept in the safe. They were presented to Criswell by Logan. They are made of cocoa bola wood. He brought them back from the Philippines.

Knives of all sizes, ranging from the butcher knife to the bread knife type, to the stiletto-like, are to be seen. Each of them were taken from prisoners following arrest.

Practically all of the revolvers found either at murder or suicide scenes are of a cheap make. Most of them also are of a foreign manufacture, such as German or Spanish, Criswell said.

In addition to these death weapons are weapons kept in the office of the chief which police officers have access to at any time an emergency requires.

The police have a Thompson machine gun, .35-caliber automatic rifles, riot shotguns, service revolvers and gas weapons, including one which is good for long range, and plenty of hand grenades.

MISSIONARY MEETING

Members of the Missionary Society of the Christian church were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Joseph Park on Thursday. At noon a delicious tureen dinner was enjoyed and in the afternoon a very interesting program was held with Mrs. Jessie Dickson acting as leader. During the business session the women decided to hold a service for Easter week of prayer.

CLASS PARTY

I. M. Hofmeister and Miss Mary Morrow were delightful entertainers Thursday evening when the Loyal Ladies' and Loyal Men's Bible classes of the church met in the home of the former on Jackson boulevard. Bible questions, business, Chinese checkers and bingo were enjoyed at the close of the devotional period, which was in charge of the president, Mrs. Joseph Park. Later in the

IF YOU FEEL SUNK Read this and cheer up

Are you so blue that life is no longer worth living? Do you cry easily? Do you feel low, mean, depressed—just absolutely SUNK? Then here's good news for you in case you need a good general system tonic—Just take famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and tone up your system, so that it can more easily throw off the "blues" and give more energy to enjoy life.

MILLIONS of women have depended upon this Compound and have passed the word along to friends and neighbors, and to their children.

Why not take Pinkham's Compound and go "smiling thru"?

High School Readers In State Contests

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 14.—High school students with reading ability are now preparing for platform appearances throughout Pennsylvania in order to represent their schools as readers of poetry and Shakespearean selections. During March and early April there will be high school reading contests in more than 60 Pennsylvania counties.

These events are part of the program of the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League which includes seven speech and 47 music events.

Each year during the spring months hundreds of Pennsylvania high schools and thousands in the other states engage in music and speech competitions. The Pennsylvania program is in its twelfth year as a state-wide organization. It is sponsored by the University of Pittsburgh through its Extension Division. Winners in the county contests in Shakespeare and in poetry reading qualify for one of nine district or inter-county meets. These will be held before April 15 at Franklin, Clarion, California, Lock Haven, State College, Wilkes-Barre, Northampton, and Upper Darby. Those who receive first honors in the district contests qualify for the annual state meetings at Norris-town, April 28 and 29. Previous state contests have been held at Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Altoona, Sunbury, Johnstown, Oil City, Pottsville, and Grove City.
